'MY SIDE OF THE STORY'

Duchess' Memoirs Appear in Times

Few books published in England for many decades have aroused so much controversy as "My Side of the Story," by the Duchess of Windsor.

It was to be expected. Here was the famous "Woman I love" of Britain's former King about to tell what she experienced during the reign of Edward the Eighth when she was "standing alone and defenceless in the eye of the storm," of being "in love, and loved as few modern women could ever expect to be loved."

Small wonder that the powerful Church of England newspaper denounced the book and its publication as damaging to the Royal Family and to the memories and reputations of former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and Archbishop Lang.

The tremendous success of "My Side of the Story" both in Britain and on this continent gave strong answer that the public wanted the story told.

The Times has secured serial rights to the Duchess' story and will publish it in its Saturday edition.

As to the controversy, the person most vitally concerned, the Duke of Windsor, answered it clearly enough. He said:

"I am glad that the Duchess decided to write her memoirs and that the British people have this opportunity of reading the story of her life."

"My Side of the Story" is not only a frank record of the century's greatest love affair but a detailed and candid biography of one of its principals.

It tells the story of her childhood in Baltimore, complicated as it was by such tragedies as the early death of her mother, the remarriage of her father, and the death of her step-father.

Her own three marriages in America are discussed in detail, in each case a record of impulsive love being set down, followed by disillusionment and in some cases near heartbreak.

The Duchess admits that she rarely looked before she leaped and adds:

"With me, however, it has been a case of just landing."

"Quite apart from other differences, women seem to be divided into two groups—those who reason and those who are forever casting about for reasons for their own lack of reason."

"The record of my life, now that I have for the first time attempted to see it whole, places me with the second group."

"And I see something more; this has been, if not my personal tragedy, my continuing folly."

This story, starting in the Times Saturday, attempts to clear up what the Duchess says, has been a great mass of misinformation, uninformed speculation and gossip.

Mounting Fire Hazard Now 'Grim'

Pender Harbor Blaze Raging Over 600 Acres

Drenching rains in some Greater Victoria districts Wednesday night did nothing to alleviate the "extreme fire hazard" in Vancouver Island and lower mainland forests.

The rain extended only as far north on the Island as Courtenay but did not reach the mainland.

Humidity in southwestern B.C. forests today stayed at the danger level of 30 to 35.

Forest officials said today situation is grim and there's no relief in sight.

"We're sitting on the edge of our seats," said D. B. Taylor, chief of Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island.

BAD BLAZE

Worst blaze is at Pender Harbor, on the mainland 50 miles north of Vancouver.

Buildings and fire-fighting equipment are being rushed there, and 300 men are being recruited to fight the fire, raging over 600 acres of timber slash.

Losses Wednesday after crews had battled it in a fire area.

Pender Harbor community is not in the fire's path, officials said.

A stiff wind was moving the blaze toward valuable timber stands on Mount Hollowell to the north.

A.B.C. Forest Service plane is patrolling the threatened area today, looking for spot fires.

Biggest fire on Vancouver Island—at Gold River, on the west coast—was confined Wednesday for the first time since it started Saturday. The blaze covered 300 acres.

FIRE PATROLS

Joe Cliffe, general superintendent of the Comox Logging and Railway Co. Ltd. operations at Ladysmith, said fire patrols will continue on company land during off-duty hours as long as the hazard continues. Men also are on duty at observation points within reach of telephones.

The company has a fleet of 15 fire trucks spotted throughout working areas, and all company employees are trained in their operation. All crews are working an early shift and will continue to do so while the hazard exists, Mr. Cliffe said.

The freak rain Thursday evening that drenched parts of Victoria, yet left other areas bone dry, reached as far as Courtenay but was of little help.

"We had a little shower last night, but right now you wouldn't know it had been raining," said Forest Ranger Stan Silke. "The country is extremely dry and hazardous."

All logging operations in the district were working early shifts in order to leave the woods before the peak hazard period of each day.

newspapermen accompanying him reiterated that he made it.

Lord Montgomery said Mr. Truman "made the mistake of criticizing two isolated tactical operations, without examining the whole strategic master plan. If he had examined the strategic picture he would have had much more, and much firmer grounds, for criticism."

"But let's get down to this business of 'squirrel-headed generals'."

"Eisenhower was the supreme Allied commander. General Mark Clark was the army commander in charge of both operations. And his chief of staff was General Gruenther."

"I wouldn't call any of them squirrel-headed generals. If Mr. Truman is calling them squirrel-headed generals then he should be reminded that all the generals in Italy at that time, with the exception of Alexander, were American generals. It was their campaign."

GUY KIBBEE DIES AT 70

EAST ISLIP, N.Y. (UP)—Veteran actor Guy Kibbee died today at the Percy-Williams Home here. He had been ill for more than a year.

Kibbee was 70 years old. He had been trouping since he was 15. He appeared in many Hollywood motion picture productions, primarily making a hit in balding character parts.

Joint Chiefs OK U.S. to Visit Soviet?

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House spokesman said today he "wouldn't be surprised" if the joint chiefs of staff should pay a visit to the Soviet Union if the Russians invited them.

Acting press secretary Murray Snyder said, however, no invitation has yet been received.

Snyder commented on a report in a copyrighted story published in the New York Daily News that Russia has sent word "it would welcome a visit by the entire U.S. joint chiefs of staff for an inspection of the Soviet armed forces."

The Daily News story, under the byline of Peter Wallenberg, said the information came from United Nations sources.

Presumably the Russians would expect a similar invitation from the United States for their own military leaders.

Snyder said at first, when asked about the report: "There has been no invitation."

Later, however, after making some checks with government officials, he said that since the Geneva conference "there have been informal discussions about high officials of our government visiting Russia."

Snyder declined to say which officials are involved in the talks. But when asked if the joint chiefs would accept an invitation to visit the Soviet Union he replied:

"I wouldn't be surprised."

NEW YORK (AP)—The Daily News says in a copyrighted story "Russia has sent word secretly to Washington that it would welcome a visit by the entire United States joint chiefs of staff for an inspection of the Soviet armed services."

The story, under the byline of Peter Wallenberg, quotes United Nations sources that "the invitation... may be formally issued soon."

Gas Pipeline Gets Transport Board OK

Permission to Build Conditional On $80 Million Government Loan

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners today gave conditional approval to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., to proceed with immediate construction of the 575-mile western section of the proposed 2,200-mile natural gas pipeline.

The order giving such permission will be issued by the board Friday, Mr. Justice John D. Kearney said in delivering a decision after a day-long hearing.

based on the condition that the company obtains an $80,000,000 loan from the government early next month.

He indicated that if the loan is not obtained the permission to proceed with immediate construction will become void.

In the Commons concerned opposition moves on Wednesday temporarily out-manoeuvred the government and knocked one day from the cabinet's tightly-scheduled program for passage of the hotly-contested gas pipeline loan legislation.

No progress was made on the bill during yesterday's abbreviated half-day sitting as Progressive Conservative and CCF tacticians threw up three delaying motions.

The procedural tangle produced extended argument on often-obscure points of order together with three roll-call votes—two of them unsuccessful appeals against rulings by Speaker Beaudoin.

End result was that the government did not achieve its aim of moving the controversial pipeline bill into the third stage of its passage—detailed study of its seven clauses, with the Commons sitting in committee of the whole. That stage was expected to be reached today.

NEAR DEADLINE

The tactical manoeuvring left the government only 11 days until its June 7 deadline for approval of the measure to lend up to $80,000,000 to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. for construction this year of the Alberta-Winnipeg section of its 2,200-mile line east to Ontario and Quebec.

If the bill is not passed by then, Trans-Canada is freed from its agreement to complete the western leg this year.

Top Amateurs To Train in B.C. For World Tilt

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association decided today that an all-star team should represent Canada at the 1957 world hockey tournament in Moscow.

Training centre would be set up in Vernon, B.C., home of the Allan Cup champions.

The motion carried at the CAHA general meeting was offered by Ken Moore of Regina and included a stipulation that every member of the Vernon Canadians, Allan Cup winners, be invited to attend and given every opportunity to make a place on the team.

The plan is in line with suggestions placed before the meeting by CAHA secretary-manager George Dudley of Midland, Ont.

The team will assemble in Vernon next fall, probably early in October, to begin training and exhibition games and eventually will travel across Canada. Exhibitions will be played against top amateur teams and also against National Hockey League teams. Arrangements will be made for playing exhibition games in Europe under rules obtaining there prior to going to Moscow.

A committee will be set up of capable hockey executives across the country to handle arrangements for assembling the team.

Coaches of all amateur clubs will be asked to submit names of their top senior and junior players who would be sent to Vernon. The entire squad that would start training in Vernon would number about 30.

The B.C. representatives all supported Becker's proposal, but when the vote came the only hand raised was an opposing vote was that of Leo Atwell, Nelson, B.C.

Moore's motion was seconded by Dr. Mel Butler of Kelowna, B.C.

The Moscow tournament was the main item of business on the last day of the general meeting, but going into the final session the delegates also had still to decide on a proposal that the Memorial Cup final for the next 10 years be played in Toronto.

Wednesday, delegates decided that a team should go to Moscow for the world meet but "without expense to the association."

cent return from the gate instead of 50 per cent.

Under a new set-up for its operational expenses, the CAHA has budgeted for $30,000 in 1957, a cut of $10,000.

Gross receipts, money from Allen Cup and Memorial Cup play-offs, were about $147,000 last year. About $60,000 was paid for transportation and living expenses of the teams and remuneration to game officials.

Of the $87,000 balance, reports showed, $47,000 was given to the clubs and $40,000 went as the CAHA's budget.

In addition to the usual split of the gate with the CAHA he would pay $4,000 to the western finalists. In the eastern finalist is a club in the Ontario branch he would pay $2,000; if outside the Ontario branch, $3,000.

Under present regulations the Memorial Cup final shifts between the west and east each year.

Ken Moore said he couldn't go for a change next year anyway—the west's turn. He also suggested Smythe take a 35-percentage of the gate.

Australia Seeks New Trade Pact

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Prime Minister Robert Menzies said today Australia has told Britain she wants to replace the 1932 Ottawa agreement on trade preferences among Commonwealth nations with a "new comprehensive agreement."

Menzies in a press statement on the eve of his departure for the prime ministers' conference in London, said Australia wants the trade talks during his visit to cover the whole field of Anglo-Australian trade, rather than being confined just to matters relating to the Ottawa agreement.

Australian trade officials have complained that although the Ottawa agreement and preferential policies have made Australia the greatest single market for British goods, Australia's advantages are being whittled down by Britain's agricultural subsidies and imports of subsidized products from Argentina and other countries.

Menzies' statement said the object of the talks would be to reach an agreement with Britain on a set of principles to provide a framework for a new trade agreement.

Lord Montgomery, visiting a member of his wartime staff here, said Mr. Truman is "fouling his own nest" when he criticizes wartime operations in Italy.

The former president, now touring Europe, was quoted as making the comment on the Allied landings during a recent visit to Italian battlefields. He later denied the statement, but newspapermen accompanying him reiterated that he made it.

Lord Montgomery said Mr. Truman "made the mistake of criticizing two isolated tactical operations, without examining the whole strategic master plan. If he had examined the strategic picture he would have had much more, and much firmer grounds, for criticism."

Canadian Sailor Dies After Fight

PORTSMOUTH, Eng. (CP)—A Canadian sailor from the aircraft carrier Magnificent died in Portsmouth hospital today from injuries police said were suffered in a fight with a British sailor.

AB Raymond Clarke of Cornwall, Ont., died less than 24 hours after he was found lying unconscious on Southsea Common, a popular seaside resort near this English Channel naval base.

The world's tallest totem pole will take its place as one of the city's top tourist attractions on the Confederation Day weekend of July 1.

Plans are now being completed to have the pole erected by that date at its Beacon Hill Park site approved by city council.

A dedication ceremony—by which all the 8,000-odd shareholders as well as the general public are invited—will be held. The pole will then be formally presented by Mayor Percy Scurrell by its sponsors, the Times and the shareholders.

Final details of the ceremony have yet to be worked out, as well as the actual time.

Since the completion of the carving by Mungo Martin and his staff a special committee has been working with City Engineer James Garnett on the problems of erection. Yarrows Limited is now engaged in the fabrication of steel required to set the big pole in its concrete base.

It is planned to finally close the totem fund at the end of this month. Until then the public may still purchase the 50-cent shares and become charter shareholders whose names will go on a scroll buried at the foot of the totem.

Shares may be obtained by mail to the Times or at the Broad Street or Douglas Street offices. The fund has now reached the $5,500 mark, most of which has been paid to the carvers, with the balance for the various incidental expenses over and above the services donated by numerous business firms and individuals.

been applied by the government twice so far to limit debate on the first two stages of the bitter commons fight. It is expected to be used twice more, in the committee stage and on final reading, with the government reported aiming at clearing the bill through the Commons and sending it to the Senate by May 31.

Wednesday CCF leader Coldwell was greeted with shouts from Liberals as he spoke on a point of order. He said he should be given a chance to state his views "since they (the Liberals) have closure on their side and are muzzling Parliament so effectively."

"I am wondering whether we are in the Reichstag or in the Canadian Parliament."

Wednesday's procedural roadblocks by the opposition were in the form of motions instructing the committee to make certain changes in the bill.

Davey Fulton (PC — Kamloops) proposed that the committee be instructed not to approve the loan to Trans-Canada unless the company has a majority of Canadian shareholders.

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) presented a motion calling for inclusion in the bill of the May 8 government agreement with Trans-Canada on the Prairie section loan.

Speaker Beaudoin ruled both out of order, basing his decision on previous rulings by Canadian and United Kingdom Speakers that both proposals were relevant to the bill and within the committee's power to deal with. Only his second ruling was appealed.

Opposition Leader Drew then presented a third motion to have the committee divide the bill into two parts, separating the Prairie loan provision from another part for federal-Ontario financing of a crown corporation to build the pipeline's $118,000,000 northern Ontario section.

Mr. Drew's motion was accepted as being in order. But an hour-long wrangle ensued on whether it was debatable.

If it was considered debatable, then it would add another stage to the pipeline debate on which the government would have to move closure.

Speaker Beaudoin finally ruled it could not be debated and his decision again was challenged.

Finally Mr. Drew's motion was defeated on another roll-call vote.

But by that time the 6 p.m. adjournment time had been reached and the government was unable to move to committee.

Votes of 153 to 66 and 152 to 67 upheld the Speaker's rulings. Mr. Drew's motion was defeated 150 to 67.

Conservative and CCF parties voted together in the minority all three times.

BASLE, Switzerland (UP) — died from lack of air, the dispatch said.

A Swiss newspaper said Wednesday Soviet seamen killed British frogman Lionel Crabb by holding him underwater with magnets until his air supply ran out.

Basler Nachrichten, in a dispatch from its Stockholm correspondent, gave "competent circles in the Nordic capital" as its sources for the story.

The dispatch said the Soviets discovered Lieut. Cmdr. Crabb under their cruiser Ordzhonikidze in England's Portsmouth harbor last April 19.

After jamming his radio contact with shore and preventing underwater photography with "jamming," the ship's detective devices showed Crabb still had not turned back, the dispatch said.

When the Russians realized Crabb still was exploring the bottom of their ship they switched on "magnetic installations" that sucked him against the keel and held him until he

Man Found Guilty Of Robbing Victoria Woman

William Boucher, 47, 735 Pandora, was remanded to next Thursday for sentence when convicted in city police court today on a charge of robbery with violence.

Boucher is charged with robbing Doris Campbell of $29 cash and a bottle containing sleeping pills on April 22.

He has been in custody since charged.

According to evidence given at the much-adjourned trial, Boucher took Mrs. Campbell to his photo studio early the morning of April 22.

BRUISED

Called to the Douglas Hotel at about 6:20 a.m., police said the woman was dishevelled, had a large bruise on her jaw and blood on her lips.

In giving judgment Magistrate Henry C. Hall noted that money, corresponding to the amount the woman said she had, was found on Boucher.

Another amount of money was found in another pocket, he noted.

The magistrate said a bottle containing some sleeping pills and a pair of gloves, identified as those she was wearing, also were found.

Mrs. Campbell said earlier in the trial that she dropped the gloves in a garage "where that chap was beating me up."

Hubby Superseded By Wife's Pets

DENVER (AP) — It wasn't only that Frederick J. Betts had to share his home with 11 chinchillas, a parrot, a cat, a dog and three

Stalin's Downgrading Ends History Exams

LONDON (AP) — Leningrad radio reported Tuesday night that many schools in the Soviet Union have been ordered not to have history examinations this year. The radio gave no reason, but the pupils presumably have not had time to bone up on the rewritten version of Russian history produced since the downgrading of Stalin.

An application for bail for Frank Miller, 60, Jordan River, who is charged with discharging a firearm with intent to cause bodily harm, was refused by Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker in Supreme Court Wednesday.

Tory Urges Caution On Divorce Bill

(From Times News Services)

Senator John T. Hackett cautioned the Senate Wednesday against approving the bill of a Progressive Conservative party colleague which would rid Parliament of handling divorce cases.

The 71-year-old Montrealer and former Commons member submitted that the legislation would force on Roman Catholic Quebec something it did not seek and has said it does not want.

Senator Hackett, a Roman Catholic and father of eight children, said no one wants more divorce.

Yet, he submitted, the bill by Senator Walter Aseltine (P.C., Saskatchewan) would actually broaden divorce opportunities by transferring Quebec and Newfoundland divorce petitions from Parliament to the Exchequer Court at Ottawa. These no longer would be subject to parliamentary control.

The two provinces are the only ones that lack their own divorce courts.

Senator Aseltine, former chairman of the Senate's divorce committee, wasn't present when Senator Hackett spoke. But Senator John T. Halg, Progressive Conservative leader, adjourned debate on his behalf.

$4.5 Million Spent on Arsenals

Canadian Arsenals Ltd., the government agency which produces ammunition, arms and other equipment for Canada's armed forces, spent $4,535,558 on new and improved facilities and new tools and equipment in the 1955-56 fiscal year.

Its capital budget for last year and estimates for the current fiscal year, tabled Wednesday, showed it plans to spend another $3,929,000 up to next March 31. This sum is subject to revision but may not be exceeded by more than 10 per cent without further cabinet approval.

Among the heavier expenditures in 1955-56 was $787,403 for new machine tools and equipment at the Dominion arsenal at Quebec City and $659,000 to provide facilities for steel cartridge case production there.

An outlay of $750,000 was made for what was described only as a "new propellant facility" at the explosives plant at Valleyfield, Que.

Proposed outlays for the current fiscal year include a further $450,000 for facilities for steel cartridge cases at the Dominion arsenal, $456,000 for a new building at the filling plant at St. Paul's l'Ermite, Que., and $850,000 for "phase four" of the "new propellant facility" being provided at Valleyfield.

There are indications that rebel Progressive Conservative member Carl Nickle will not get a Commons probe of his oil connections before a decision is reached on the government's proposal to lend Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. up to $80 million.

Nickle asked the investigation Wednesday after Stanley Knowles (C.F., Winnipeg) had challenged his right to vote on government pipeline legislation in view of "his direct interest" in it.

G. Roy Williams (L., Northumberland, N.B.), chairman of the Commons committee on privileges and elections, said the committee will decide what course must be followed "as soon as possible" but not before the loan bill is passed.

Rufin Arsenault, chief of the Commons' committees branch, said he cannot recall a similar incident at any time since he entered the branch in 1927. He had not heard of any such incident before that either.

Public Works Minister Winters and Progressive Conservative Owen C. Trainor have different ideas on the aesthetic qualities of the new Winnipeg post office.

Cool Weather Eases Flooding In Kootenays

Crews Continue Sandbagging Work

CRANBROOK (CP)—Flooding East Kootenay rivers and creeks dropped slightly Wednesday night as lower temperatures removed the immediate danger of extensive flooding.

Hardest hit section was on the southern Trans-Provincial Highway between Moyie and Yalo, about 350 miles east of Vancouver, where the Moyie river covered the highway to depths of 18 inches.

Water covered a 20-mile section of the road. Traffic was still able to get through, but highway department tow trucks were needed for stretches up to three miles.

Unpredictable Mark Creek, which runs through the town of Kimberley, dropped slightly Wednesday night, but sandbagging and bulldozing operations were continued at top speed to guard against a break-through. Mark Creek caused heavy damage in Kimberley during the 1948 flood stage.

Two families in the lower sections of land bordering the creek have been evacuated but their homes were not believed to be in danger.

Bus and train traffic from the east is running almost on time, but it is about two hours late from the west.

First bridge to go was over Wild Horse Creek east of Fort Steele, which toppled when banks collapsed.

At Nelson, Cottonwood Creek backed up by the rising Kootenay Lake, spilled over its banks and across several tracks in Canadian Pacific Railway yards.

The Columbia River was up to 32.04 feet at Trail, but had begun to drop further upstream at Revelstoke.

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP)—Residents of this partly evacuated town relaxed slightly early today as the Kootenay River dropped more than two feet after breaking dikes and flooding more rich farm land.

The town itself remained dry, although the river crested at an unexpectedly high 36.6 feet Wednesday night—more than a foot above the previous all-time high in 1954.

Water was just inches from the top of the 37-foot dike here protecting the town, when dikes around outlying farm areas gave way and 2,278 more acres were flooded.

Justice Minister Stuart Garson declined comment Wednesday on reports that two Toronto men serving sentences in Kingston penitentiary are innocent.

John Diefenbaker (P.C., Prince Albert) raised the matter. He asked Garson if he had received a letter from Magistrate W. W. McKeown "to the effect that, according to evidence now available, these men are indeed innocent."

Garson said he had received no letter. He said he preferred to withhold comment "until I have received the letter and learned from it what it is that I would be talking about."

Next 48 Hours Critical on Fraser

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two more feet up in two more days and then the Fraser River will drop without topping the 22-foot dikes at Mission, water resources officials said Wednesday night.

The Mission level's latest reading was 18.04 feet, compared with Tuesday's reading of 17.15 feet. But the Fraser has already begun to drop at Prince George, down to 27 feet, which will lower the level at Hope and Mission within a couple of days.

The Mission readings have been rising by a steady foot a day since the weekend. More than 1,000 acres near Ruskina are under water, but local residents said similar flooding is an annual temporary difficulty.

The Columbia River was up to 32.04 feet at Trail, but had begun to drop farther upstream at Revelstoke.

Deputy Highways Minister Evan Jones flew to Vancouver early today to make a personal survey of the flood menace along the Fraser Valley.

He will be travelling up the valley by road and may be away for two days, depending on the conditions he finds today.

"We are concerned over the possibility of another major flood such as that of 1948," Mr. Jones said. "I hope to be able to ascertain the extent of the flood menace today."

"If we get a spell of cool weather it will help the situation a lot."

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two persons were battered with a hammer and a 37-year-old fisherman was arrested and held for investigation in a fight Wednesday night at an east end home.

Police said Fred Parrott, 45, suffered a depressed compound fracture of the skull. Mrs. Margaret Corbett, 36, had 16 stitches to close head wounds.

"thought I'd never bake a perfect cake! (but now I never miss—with Jewel!)"

HERE'S MY FAVOURITE RECIPE. WON'T YOU TRY IT SOON?

Arabian Spice Cake

Yield: Two 9-inch or three 8-inch layers

Method: Quick-Mix Type

Like every cake made with pure, Quick-Mix Jewel, this one is high, light, and handsome. The flavour is spicy, but delicate—with just a bit of chocolate for extra husband-appeal.

Group 1:

1 cup Quick-Mix Jewel shortening

2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour

2 cups granulated sugar

1 teaspoon baking powder

1 teaspoon soda

1/4 cup buttermilk or sour milk

1/2 teaspoon ground cloves

1/2 teaspoon allspice

2 tablespoons cocoa

1/4 cup buttermilk or sour milk

1 teaspoon vanilla

1 teaspoon lemon extract

1 teaspoon nutmeg

Group 2:

4 Swift's Brookfield eggs

Place Jewel in a bowl. And do make sure it's Jewel, because this is the shortening with the failure-proof blend—a blend so perfect no other shortening has been able to match it! Sift into bowl the dry ingredients. Add 1/4 cup buttermilk, vanilla and lemon extract. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed of an electric mixer or use 150 strokes per minute by hand. Throughout entire mixing time keep batter scraped from beater and sides and bottom of bowl.

Add group 2. Beat 2 additional minutes on medium speed. Notice how smooth and rich the batter is. That's because Jewel is homogenized, for quick, easy, thorough creaming. Pour equal amounts of batter into pans lined with 2 layers of waxed paper or one layer brown paper. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for approximately 28 minutes.

And now, out comes your Arabian Spice Cake—as perfectly delicious as a cake CAN be, because you've made it with perfectly-blended Jewel. Frost and decorate cake when cool.

Why the Guillotine?

THE GUILLOTINE OF CLOSURE now being applied to the House of Commons is a sharp and terrific weapon. No government can justify its use—least of all a Liberal government—except in an extreme emergency. Is the gas pipeline project such an emergency?

Undoubtedly it is if we accept the proposition that the prairie section of the line must be built this year. For if the Opposition continues its filibuster, construction cannot commence at mid-summer and be completed by winter.

The question, then, is whether all this speed is necessary. The St. Laurent government says it is. The Conservative Government of Ontario says it is. Alberta is eager to sell its gas, the consumers of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario are eager to get it. And the Government's plan alone will assure construction before 1956, since only Trans-Canada Pipe Lines owns the necessary pipe and new pipe cannot be manufactured before the autumn of 1958.

In British Columbia (where we shall soon have our own natural gas supply from the Peace River) it is difficult to understand why the Canadian taxpayers should loan huge sums to Trans-Canada and perhaps be compelled to foreclose their mortgage and operate the line for the sole purpose of providing gas in Winnipeg by December 31.

But that decision has been taken by a majority of Parliament, it has the support of at least four provincial governments, including the Conservative Government of Ontario and apparently nothing will stop it. Unfortunately the rather confused parliamentary debate has wandered far from the merits of the pipeline project and from the facts facing the Government.

Mr. Coldwell has been incisive and logical in advocating a government-owned line. He is a socialist and entitled to his theories but these theories are rejected by most of the Canadian people.

Mr. Drew largely ignores the real issues, attacks the present closure and can only propose that the whole business be turned over to a parliamentary committee for investigation.

If he were candid he would admit that his proposal would stall the pipeline for at least two years. He is not that candid and pretends that somehow the line can be built this year even if the filibuster continues, even if a parliamentary committee uses up weeks or months and even if the summer construction season is lost. That is why he finds himself in complete conflict with his party in Ontario.

Mr. Drew has a perfect right to attack the use of closure and the Liberal party every reason for humiliation in using it. It should not be assumed, however, that the Government majority is preventing adequate debate in Parliament. Even with the closure there is ample time to discuss every detail of the pipeline scheme. In nearly a month of concentrated debate Parliament should be able to discuss and decide any issue. The closure is being used not to stifle debate but to end a calculated filibuster.

We need not fear that the Government's policy will go through ill-considered. The closure is objectionable in this case not because it prevents the fullest consideration of a major national policy but because it uses a majority to coerce a minority, establishes a dangerous precedent and repudiates the Liberal party's long-standing principles.

End of a Triumvirate

A GIANT IS DISAPPEARING from the scene of American politics to be replaced by a man of unknown dimensions. When Senator George, of Georgia, announced his retirement the other day he wrote his last letter to the Senate and finally ended that triumvirate which included Taft and Vandenberg. There are no visible successors of their stature.

Senator George has been for a long time one of the most powerful figures in the United States, and in the free world for that matter. His strength, oddly enough, increased when, as a Democrat, he faced a Republican President; for it was into the senator's hands that Mr. Eisenhower largely committed his foreign policy when he needed the support of Congress.

No Republican could have supported the President more loyally than the aged Democrat as chairman of the decisive Senate foreign relations committee. To no one does the President owe more than to his ostensible opponent.

Senator George says he is retiring because of his advanced years, but undoubtedly he would have run again next autumn if he had not been faced in Georgia by Mr. Herman Talmadge, a different sort of man. On a policy of white supremacy and a cry of local grievance Mr. Talmadge seems certain to win the Democratic primary, and in Georgia to be a Democratic Governor.

Mr. Talmadge, now a noisy, screaming local politician, may calm down and become more responsible when he reaches the Senate. At the moment his utterances must be alarming to all Americans who understand the depth and danger of the Negro problem. One of his recent speeches illustrates the quality and size of his mind:

"When American citizens finally realize that our Federal Government and the Supreme Court are both being dictated to and dominated by such political pressure groups as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and its satellites, it may not be too late to prevent the loss of these great rights. But time is short."

And time has caught up on Senator George, a great American statesman of moderation, to elevate the angry young man in a hurry.

Gratifying to Canadians

THE QUEEN HAS EXTENDED the term of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey for another year, retaining his services as Governor-General until the spring of 1958.

Canadians have every reason to applaud the decision.

Since he became the first native-born occupant of his high office, Mr. Massey has conferred distinction upon it. Previously recognized for his broad outlook, high scholarship and deep appreciation for the substance of Canadian life, he has confirmed his country's faith in him.

Smaller Forces or Greater?

IT CAN NOT HAVE ESCAPED the leaders of the Kremlin, in their moments of quiet thinking, that the announcement of a cut of 1,200,000 in the Soviet armed forces has been received by the world with something less than rejoicing.

Long experience of dashed hopes has made the non-communist world wary of Russian announcements. The announcement may not be true, but merely a propaganda device. If true, its real significance may be different from the literal meaning of the words.

When, at the close of 1955, Russia announced a cut of 640,000 in its armed forces, the statement was met with considerable disbelief. But when the actual reduction appeared to be genuine, there were many conjectures that the real reason for the cut was not a simple love for disarmament. In the light of later developments this suspicion seems to have been borne out.

Russia's internal economic problems, including an acute labor shortage in some vital industries, offered ample reasons for decreasing an army which would not likely be needed soon for active service.

The same reasoning seems to apply to the latest cut in armed forces. It is not known what types of servicemen are involved, but it may be assumed that mechanics and farmers will be the first to find themselves back in civilian life.

There remains, too, the question of whether the dismissal of a million or more men will in reality reduce the Soviet forces, still the largest in the world. The tactic of the "human sea," used by Russia during the Second World War, appears to be a thing of the past now that the atomic age is upon us. If a small crew with nuclear equipment can now hit the blow which hundreds of servicemen were once needed to deliver, and if Russia has that equipment, then her forces today may be many times as powerful as they were two or three years ago.

Thus the dismissal of a million or more men may have in no sense reduced Russia's offensive or defensive force. It may not be "disarmament" at all. And that is a belief which gains strength from the Soviet Union's continued refusal to agree to international armament inspection.

An Echo From High Prairie Catches Up to the Wayfarer

THE EDITOR of The Northern Echo, a weekly newspaper published in High Prairie, Alberta, is unknown to me. But he must be a thoughtful man and a devoted patriot of the Peace River country. "Anyway," at the moment he is extremely annoyed. He is annoyed at me for my references to his town and its public cooking. Last spring I passed—or rather walked—through High Prairie at the season of mud, pausing briefly there to eat what I called, in a national magazine, the worst meal ever cooked by human hands since the discovery of fire.

Hutchison

STEALING a copy of the excellent Northern Echo in a restaurant, I quoted certain remarkable passages to illustrate the backwardness of the Peace River country and the courage and patience of its people under hard conditions of life.

Yesterday The Northern Echo was sent to me (perhaps by the kindly editor) its leading article marked with a blue pencil and entitled, in large type: "Mr. Hutchison Cooks It Up."

Of course I knew at once, on reading this headline, what was the matter. High Prairie was outraged, like any Canadian town, by the slightest reflection on its cooking. You can safely attack any town for its architecture, its politics or its morals. But an attack on its cooking is like an attack on womanhood. Naturally, therefore, The Northern Echo arises in a righteous passion to denounce me as a fly-by-night traveler who didn't bother to investigate the facts.

NOW, I never pretended to have any knowledge of the great Peace River country but I claim a certain experience with food, having studied it intimately for much more than half a century. The Northern Echo may argue that conditions in High Prairie were abnormal, food short as a result of a breakdown in road transportation and less, the culinary facts were as I stated them.

Unwittingly The Northern Echo has stumbled upon a grave national problem. I mean, of course, the problem of cook-

Success by Hard Work

The president and the executive of the Boy Scouts Association, Victoria district, wish to express through your columns their sincere thanks to all those friends of Scouting, Scout leaders and parents, who gave so much time and unstinting effort to make our first Scoutorama an outstanding success. Without their hard work, and the loyal support of the public, it would not have been possible to achieve this most satisfactory result.

THE BOY SCOUTS ASSOCIATION,

Public Apathy

A few days ago, speaking in Nelson, B.C., the Hon. Mr. Black, minister of municipal affairs, spoke of the "appalling lack" of public interest in local government. What the minister said is quite true. However, Mr. Black could have gone further and applied the same feeling to our provincial affairs.

In this regard one wonders just how long the public of B.C. will stand for some of the acts of our Provincial Government in which Mr. Black happens to be a minister. The public has been given enough information in the past few months to make Mr. Bennett sit up and take notice of serious charges leveled at his Government. In fact they are the most serious charges ever to be brought to the public's attention.

The Cassiar Road contract in which thousands of dollars have apparently been squandered is met with a shrug from Mr. Bennett, to say nothing of the handling of the Sommers-Sturdy case in which a minister of the Crown has tendered his resignation. There is the question of wholesale patronage handouts in spite of Mr. Bennett's blatant "often quoted phrase, 'We have eliminated patronage.'"

One hears on all sides, "but they are doing things." Mr. Editor, it is quite true this Government is doing things. The question we should ask it, how are they doing these things, and how well? What will be the ultimate cost to B.C. when the day of reckoning comes?

One wonders just how long they can get away with it before the public will come to its senses. Yes, Mr. Black, your warning is timely. Public apathy is appalling indeed.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Bingo and Charities

I read with much interest the article on the attitude of some of the churches regarding the bingo games—the big ones I mean.

Just what is the objection? The Kinsmen Club made considerable money and donated it to various charities, so that they who really required help, received it.

On the other hand, what are the churches doing towards helping the needy? Sure, they put on various social activities, teas, bazaars, etc., but it is for the benefit of the church not the needy. If they were really true to the teachings of the Christ whom they profess to follow, would not they, too, look after the halt, the sick, the lame, and the blind, to say nothing of the widows and orphans?

There has been much said about lotteries but thousands of dollars go out of this country annually and bring help to various hospitals overseas when our own are so badly in need of ready money.

After all, this is supposed to be a free country, and if sweepstakes, lotteries, etc., were legalized it would still be up to the individual whether or not he subscribed.

May the Kinsmen Club and any other organization which uses its profits for the benefit of the needy still carry on, and good luck to them.

A WELL WISHER.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

By ART STOTT

The Northern Echo—eat at home where the Canadian housewife is a good sound craftsman if not an artist. The resident population is thus well nourished and packed full of vitamins. Only the traveler suffers from bad cooking and if, unlike this writer, he is a sensible fellow, he will keep his indignation secret. Otherwise he will be denounced as a traitor to the nation. He will be accused of that un-Canadian activity, the desire for a good meal.

HOWEVER, I make no complaint. The annoyance of the local residents in such a village as High Prairie is a symbol of the nation's strength. We are strong everywhere with local patriotism and hot with local pride, and it is this instinct, I suppose, which finally issues in great national policies and daring ventures like the gas pipeline. As a people we think we can do anything and strangely enough we usually can—anything, that is to say, but feed the traveler.

When I read the Northern Echo promises me "the meal of my life." One of these days I shall certainly accept that invitation. In the meantime I shall never travel by car without filling the trunk with sandwiches.

FROM OTTAWA

Plenty of Hard Work But 'It is Far More Than a Job'

ANYONE FAMILIAR with elections knows how hard a candidate works to win a seat in the House of Commons. It is an honor to which some people aspire. It is far more than a job and it requires abilities beyond those of the average workman. But if a member is conscientious his election is the introduction to labor that doesn't count the hours and exacts a heavy drain on energy and physical strength.

The schedule is punishing. Victoria's Frank Fairley, who gives this city excellent representation at Ottawa, illustrates the case.

His day starts early. He may glance through his newspapers to keep abreast of local, national and international developments. When his mail arrives he has a busy session ahead of him, not just reading and answering it, but figuring how best he can serve the person who wrote to him. Very few letters flowing to a member of parliament are merely inquiries about his health or good wishes on his birthday.

People who write their members usually want something done. It's part of the member's duty to see what he can do for them. That means appointments with different departments, ministers and officials.

He must, of course, reply to his mail, acknowledging its receipt and then, when he has collected information or referred the matter to the proper quarters, he must write again.

Committee Duties

That is an incident in the day. From if he can proceed to his committee duties. There much of the valuable work of the House of Commons is carried on.

A major committee—and its members will usually include members of the Senate—will hear almost interminable evidence on a serious question. Its sessions will be jammed in between sittings of the House and other affairs.

Every afternoon and evening except Wednesday and Friday nights, the House sits, Monday through Friday—and Victoria Day is no holiday. When matters are as contentious as the gas pipeline issue, members cannot slip away. They have to be in their seats for a vote, whether they're speaking or not.

If business is slack a committee member may find time to steal out for group study, often in the evening.

Beyond that, a member has speeches to make, sometimes on the radio, sometimes to local gatherings.

Inevitably he'll find someone from his own constituency dropping in to see him. If relations are cordial, he'll extend himself to show the visitor around, will make a luncheon or dinner appointment and will see to it, generally, that the visitor isn't a stray lamb in the fenced pastures of Ottawa.

What applies to the member—and often to the senator, as Victoria's Nancy Hodges can well attest—applies twofold to a Minister of the Crown. He puts in a 12 to 14-hour day. His time is crowded under any circumstance, directing the business of his department and informing himself and being informed by his colleagues on affairs of the Government at high level. As one minister explains, it's a full day's work without being a Member of Parliament, which he is under the Canadian system.

The minister's work is not confined to Ottawa. A few days ago Hon. Lester B. Pearson boarded a plane in Paris at 1 o'clock in the morning, following a major conference, and took his seat in Commons the same afternoon. Hon. Paul Martin motored to Arnprior a week ago last Monday to open a Civil Defence Col-

Aid to Asia in Action

From The New York Times

IN THE past few days two more important steps have been taken to translate into action some phases of our aid to Asia. In Colombo representatives of Ceylon and the United States have signed the agreement that will provide about $5,000,000 in economic aid to Ceylon in this fiscal year. In Washington, France and the United States concluded an agreement whereby France will buy $30,000,000 worth of American surplus agricultural products and the United States will put the proceeds into a franc account for the benefit of Vietnam.

There had been some apprehension in Ceylon lest the recent election result—hardly to be construed as favorable to pro-Western interests—might interrupt the plans for our modest economic help. That fear has now been dissipated.

In the case of Vietnam our aid continues to be urgently needed. The agreement with France makes it possible for us to convert some of our agricultural surplus liability into an asset for help to the Vietnamese. The French have shown that they have not abandoned their interest in the Vietnamese in spite of their decision to withdraw the remainder of their military forces in the area. In this case they are acting as a sort of middle man to make it easier for American economic strength to be brought to bear.

The Kelpy Horns

THEY were squatting on the float by the Public Wharf—two thin, dark-haired boys of 10. Each was wearing jeans and T-shirt. Each was officially called "Robert" and "Bob" for short. Each loved "just messing about in boats," to use a Wind-in-the-Willows phrase.

But Robert D. came from the roughest kind of home. He knew squalor, drunkenness, erratic meals, four children in a bed, and the stench of piled-up, unwashed baby clothes. At 10 years old, there was very little of the disgusting side of life that Robert D. hadn't seen.

Robert H. was a millionaire's son. His home was a beautiful Californian ranch house with an unbelievable view over the ocean.

It seemed to him quite natural to fly to Hawaii to watch the finish of a sailing race. He knew many of this continent's major air ports. He'd flown to Europe twice. He'd been to Paris and to London. He was quite at home in the best hotels. He was equally at home on a fishing or a camping trip.

It was a cruising trip among the islands that had brought him to B.C. And it was a visit to the Public Wharf for gas and water that brought him face to face with the other Robert.

The "rough" little Robert was busy with a pile of kelp heads that he'd collected in the battered dugout canoe he'd found abandoned and washed up on the beach.

He was cutting the heads to make a kind of horn.

The rich little Robert watched him cut away the head at about "eyebrow" level and leave a "nick" of about 6-8 inches long.

He saw the local boy blow upon the horn and listen to the sound it made.

He noticed how the sound varied with the length of the neck and the size of the head.

And when the cabin cruiser pulled away from the wharf, he could talk of nothing else.

For the rest of the trip, he was impatient with fishing and bored with long runs from anchorage to anchorage. All he wanted was to take the smart white dinghy and hunt for heads of kelp.

He dragged the lengths of kelp on to the sleek, smart cabin cruiser.

He tried to keep his evil-smelling kelp heads on his bunk.

He drove his parents almost crazy with his perpetual blowing on the horns.

He remembered them for a whole year. They were the highlight of his trip.

All winter long, he fussed and fussed for his parents to spend their next summer vacation cruising in B.C.

It would be fun to say that, when they came, he lost all interest in kelp and horns. He didn't. The first thing he did was to find himself a dripping length of kelp. He taught his sister the trick as well.

The second summer was just twice as "kelpy" as the first!

And I don't know that this story has any point at all. Except that it's amusing and true to childhood.

It's also a wonderful example of the universality of "little" things, and the common bond they can make between people of very different backgrounds.

And I'll bet you anything that the Publicity Boys have never thought of listing kelp horns as one of the attractions of B.C.!

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Cigaret Centennial

LONDON—This month cigarettes celebrate their 100th birthday in Britain. When a young Scot named Robert Clogh went off to the Crimean War no one in Britain had the cigarette habit because they didn't exist. But when he got back in 1856 he brought with him the cigarette idea and set up The Original Turkey Tobacco and Cigaret Manufacturing Co. to make them. His first brand was called Sweet Threes and the price was certainly right—a packet of three for about half a cent.

They caught on so quickly that other people hastened to get into the cigarette business, but by 1884 Clogh was the acknowledged top man in the trade with his newly introduced Tom Thumbs, five for a cent, named after the famous dwarf and of which I've heard many an old-timer speak.

Clogh kept on being a pioneer. It was he who introduced cigarette cards. But there are no Clogh brands on the market these days. When his son inherited the business he couldn't arouse much enthusiasm for cigarettes and the firm soon packed up.

In the 100 years of cigarette production in London has jumped from zero to 50,000,000 a day and English people now living in Canada will be interested to know that Players, for so many years recognized as Britain's most popular cigaret, have been topped from their perch.

Players are still an "under-the-counter" cigarette, i.e. demand is greater than supply and at most outlets they are not displayed on the shelves with other brands but reserved for regular customers. But also under the counter are Senior Service and that has now become the most-wanted brand, with Players becoming No. 2.

Personally, I smoke a cork-tipped brand famous for being made specially to prevent sore throats but notorious in the trade for being a bad seller. I think they're terrific. It's not so much that they're a good smoke. Their main attribute is that when you hand around your packet, no one will accept one.

Cigaret pioneer Clogh has a neglected grave in a cemetery in suburban Kensal Green and there is no memorial there or anywhere else to the inventor of the English cigarette. Like most people, I don't think I'd be forthcoming if they asked me to contribute toward a memorial for him. After all, he's already costing me $300 a year which probably wouldn't be going up in smoke if it had not been for him.

HERE'S ONE for those lovers of jargon in Ottawa to add to their list for future use. The Minister of Transport, Secretary of the Ministry of Transport. Any consideration we may be giving has not reached a point where it will be desirable to give any indication to the public of what is going on in our minds. Translation: "No comment."

CZ To Sell 270,000 Shares To Canadians

New Exchange Offer For CWL Hold-Outs

VANCOUVER (CP)—Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd., a forest products firm with major holdings in British Columbia, announced Wednesday it will offer Canadians 270,000 shares in a move expected to increase public holdings from a fraction of one per cent to about five per cent.

More than 99 per cent of the company's shares are now held by Crown Zellerbach Corp. of San Francisco, which will buy an additional 230,000 under the new plan.

Peter T. Sinclair, president of the Canadian company, said the final price of the proposed public offering will range from $22 to $25 a share.

5-FOR-1 SPLIT

The announcement followed a decision by directors of Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited to seek shareholders' approval of a program of re-alignment of the financial structure of the Canadian subsidiaries of Crown Zellerbach Corporation, San Francisco. This will include a 5-for-1 subdivision of the present 750,000 $10 par value ordinary share capital to $30,000,000, comprising 15,000,000 shares of $2 par value each.

Mr. Sinclair also announced a proposal to make an exchange of shares of Canadian Western Lumber Co. Ltd., an affiliated company.

A minority of CWL shareholders (about four per cent) refused to exchange for CZ shares when their firm was bought by the U.S. company in 1953.

Mr. Sinclair said the offer to shareholders of Canadian Western would be on the basis of one ordinary share of Crown Zellerbach Canada for one common share of Canadian Western.

In addition, Mr. Sinclair announced, the board of directors has indicated its intention to resume dividend payments on Crown Zellerbach Canada ordinary shares commencing about October 1, 1956, at a quarterly rate of 25 cents per share.

MECHANICAL HANDS BEAT ATOMIC DANGERS

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—General Electric Company engineers have developed a machine with mechanical arms and hands to work in radioactive areas where it would be too dangerous for a man to work.

The "electro-hydraulic manipulator" has two pairs of limbs that can be operated from a distant point, G-E said Wednesday.

General Electric said the machine works this way:

The operator, at one point, straps his own arms and fingers into the mechanical arms and fingers. He then goes through the desired arm and finger motions for the task at hand, such as using a wrench or a screwdriver or pouring water. A similar machine, at another point, duplicates the movements. The machines are connected by wires. The operator can watch his work via a television hookup.

Lengthy Career Of Crime Traced To Nine-Year-Old

SEATTLE (AP)—A month-long crime wave, involving five brush fires, broken windows, car prowling and letter stealing, ended Wednesday with the confession of a nine-year-old boy.

The youngster told juvenile officers of the offences and traced his "career" since release from the Chehalis state training school last March.

Police officers believe he is the youngest boy ever sent to the school. He spent 18 months there.

His mother told officers she couldn't "handle" the youngster. The boy also said he recently stole two sticks of dynamite from a car.

"I was going to light them, but I didn't have any matches with me."

Cherry Bank Wins Appeal; Zoning Bylaw Okay Due

Turnabout votes by Mayor Percy Scurrah and Ald. Austin Curtis this afternoon assured continuation of special district zoning for Cherry Bank Hotel.

Following settlement of the Cherry Bank question, final passage of the 1956 zoning bylaw appeared certain—after five years of preparation.

Mayor Scurrah said today he has been in receipt of "new information" in connection with the controversy which threatened operation of the hotel at 818 McClure.

Council recently bowed to weight of opposition by neighbors who demanded that Victoria's proposed new zoning bylaw exclude the Cherry Bank from special district privilege granted last December.

The zoning made it permissive for the hotel to hold a dining room licence where in the past it had legally been able to sell meals only to registered guests.

NUISANCE

Opponents to the move charged the hotel was in heart of a residential area and as such was a nuisance inasmuch as the hotel also holds a provincial liquor licence and operates a cocktail lounge.

It was felt if the zone was changed back to apartment classification there would be better grounds for obtaining an injunction which could mean loss of the provincial liquor licence and probably closure of the premises.

W. H. M. Haldane, QC, representing the objectors, won support in council and the hotel was to have lost its protective zoning when the new bylaw was passed.

But the last-minute change of mind of two council members indicates the by-law will pass as originally drawn.

Their decision apparently hinged on the fact that new owner of the hotel, F. R. Donnelly, bought the premises while they were zoned as special district, and stood to lose what was described as his life savings if the last change went through.

Father of 4 Dies In Ship Accident

(From The Canadian Press)

VANCOUVER — The death of a longshoreman, crushed Wednesday in the hold of a ship at North Vancouver, sent up British Columbia's accident death toll to eight in two days.

Donald M. Cunningham, 40-year-old father of four, was working aboard the freighter Clifford J. Rogers when four bales of empty ore bags, weighing more than 500 pounds each, fell onto him.

Tuesday, three children died in a fire at Hazelton, three men died in a plane crash near Kemano and a smelting plant worker died of asphyxiation in Kitimat.

The children were Kelly Dames, 11, his sisters, Judy, 9, and Peggy, 7, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Dames. They were found huddled on one bed. Kelly lay shielding his sisters from the flames, with his arms around them.

The bodies of the three men killed when their plane crashed near Kemano Tuesday were recovered by an RCMP launch from Kitimat Wednesday.

They were Capt. Victor Deeks, 34, of Terrace, the pilot; Angus Lancaster Chalmers, 44, of Kemano and Harold Casey, 34, of Kemano, both passengers.

Russell Baker, president of Pacific Western Airlines, said Wednesday that the four-seater Widgeon amphibian of PWA must have struck a rock or some other object while landing to check something thought to be connected with the missing fisherman for which the plane was searching.

The victim of asphyxiation at the Aluminum Co. of Canada's Kitimat smelting plant Tuesday night was John Lloyd Minikin, 36, mixerman in the carbon plant. A small fire broke out in the plant, overcoming several firemen with the smoke.

Two widely-dissimilar sports will take the spotlight Friday night in Victoria. At Athletic Park, the Pacific Coast Soccer League summer schedule gets underway with Victoria United meeting New Westminster Royals, while at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club, the Jack Kramer professional tennis show puts in an appearance. Leading lights in the soccer game will be, from left to right, Willie Hamilton, Ced Robb, Bill Abbott and George Wright of United, while the

IT'S MY VIEW BY Bill Walker

It all depends on your taste. Because certainly the dish will be sweet enough in two locales Friday night.

They've done it up proud, have the soccer brass and net officials, to kick off the weekend with a couple of sports treats that are well worth the tariff.

First there's the tennis exhibition at the Victoria Badminton Club hall.

They don't come any finer than Pancho Gonzales, Tony Trabert, Pancho Segura, Jack Kramer and Rex Hartwig.

Even Trabert, the world's best amateur of last year, admits that Gonzales is easily the peer of the field. And he should. For the tour has been decided. Gonzales has won by a whopping margin. But that doesn't mean that something will be lacking here. Both are pros, perform like pros, and will be priming for a series of pro tournaments this summer.

And little Pancho Segura, the bandy-legged rooster. Perhaps it's unfair to say that Segura isn't rated in the first two.

Because he did finish second to Gonzales last year, and ahead of Frank Sedgman, the Australian whizz. This year, he didn't get that chance as the round-robin was eliminated. But he did tie the tie to Rex Hartwig of Australia.

But come to Hartwig and here's a fellow who is rated as having no superior in his phase of his business.

He was the key man in Australia's Davis Cup doubles triumphs last year, and paired with Trabert, this combination is regarded as probably the top duo in the world today.

No doubt you've seen championship bowling on television—well this is different—this is championship tennis in the flesh.

An Answer to Past Ills

And now to football.

The big experiment starts here Friday night.

Summer soccer, the answer to cold winter afternoons, lagging attendance, and a hit-and-miss schedule, makes its debut.

Soccer fans have expressed a wish for something of this nature. Now is their chance to prove their loyalty.

The Victoria United team has done its part up to now.

First, as Strathcona, they went to the final of the Province Cup competition, and took all other championships locally.

Under manager Charlie Lewis and coach Willie Hamilton, there has been a general and appreciable improvement in the start of the winter campaign, until today, United rates near the top of the pile.

The club has been a diligent unit without the taint of "slush" funds, and that's the way it will operate through the summer season.

Coach Hamilton has intimated that those who don't want to play for the sake of the game can play somewhere else. And he's got the backing of George Eade, club president, and the management, behind him.

George Doing It—for Football

And actually, it's a make or break proposition for inter-city competition.

Bankruptcy was the Coast League's silent partner this past winter. Victoria teams have been in and out of the league so often they should be able to dismantle and put together a revolving door blindfolded.

Eade called the turn for the latest admission to the league. He called it because he is respected throughout soccer for having a raft of cancelled cheques in his bottom drawer from previous investments.

And he's willing to do it again—for football.

There won't be any cash dividend for George—he's not that type. But what he and United would like in return is a vote of confidence in their stock.

They figure it's top-grade and should sell.

POUNDAGE PROBLEMS

Yolande Too Light Archie Too Heavy

LONDON (AP)—Challenger Yolande Pompey went on a beer diet Tuesday to gain weight. Champion Archie Moore stepped up his roadwork and cut-down on food to lose weight.

The two meet in Harrington Arena June 5 for the light heavyweight boxing title.

Moore would not tell what the scales said Tuesday after he finished a busy session of training which included six rounds of sparring, 15 minutes of calisthenics and six miles of roadwork at his Windsor camp on the Thames 25 miles west of London.

His weight is believed to be down to about 185 or 186—10 or 11 pounds over the light-heavyweight limit of 175.

United To Host Royals

The Coast Soccer League will make its first Victoria installment on its new lease on life Friday night when Victoria United hosts New Westminster Royals at Athletic Park at 8:15.

On the verge of financial bankruptcy after the recent winter season, probably the most disastrous in the league's history, the CSL packed away its winter memories and reformed its constitution in favor of a summer schedule.

Two games have been played in Vancouver so far under the new setup, both were well-attended and Victoria's first test, for both the team and the fan reaction, will be held Friday.

Victoria coach Willie Hamilton, who spent 11 years with Preston North End and shorter terms with Queen of the South, Morton and Alderstonians, has been polishing the edges of his club and, in his quiet but authoritative way, said Wednesday, "Our lads are ready."

LAST DRILL

Hamilton held his last practice Tuesday night and then dismissed the club for the rest of the week with the orders to get plenty of rest and report to the park early Friday night.

Manager Jim Lackie said the spirit of the team is at an all-time high for the first game and that veteran fullback John Pickburn was working harder at getting into top shape than any other player. The United club will rely on its crowd-pleasing and effective short-passing attack that Hamilton has installed and will use a roving fullback pattern. Big Pete Winter, who is in his third year with United although he is only 20 years old, will be in goal for United and will have steady Bill Hope and Pickburn as his fullbacks.

Hamilton will be at a wing-half position with Joe Robbins at centre-half and Harold Holroyd at the other wing.

Up front, United will go with 19-year-old Billy Abbott at the important centre forward spot. The bustling Drue's, replacement during the winter season, now has the job all to himself, as Drue is concentrating on lacrosse.

And he's willing to do it again—for football.

There won't be any cash dividend for George—he's not that type. But what he and United would like in return is a vote of confidence in their stock.

They figure it's top-grade and should sell.

ROYALS STRONG

Cedric Robb and Ken Hibbert will hold down the wings and George Wright will be at inside left. The other inside spot will go to Ernie Eastlake. Cec Harrison and Willie McMillan, with Eastlake getting the first call if his leg is fully recovered from an injury.

Sparers will be Timmy Walker and Charlie Mills.

The powerful Royals, former dominion champions, have signed 22-pound Jim Kinna, well known in Victoria for his lacrosse activities, as their No. 1 goalkeeper.

Dave Stothard, Coast League rookie of 1955, and Buster Cairns get the call at fullbacks and the halves will be selected from Joe Jordan, Pat Philey, Dave Sullivan, Doug Greig or Les Hibbert.

Gogie Stewart, if he decides to drop lacrosse and stay with soccer, will be at either inside or outside left.

KIDS FREE

Friday's game will be held under the normal 45-minute halves with no stoppage of the clock. However, when the time clock is installed at Athletic Park, all games will go under the CSL innovation of 30-minute halves with the clock stopped for all stoppages of play.

United officials have announced that on Friday, all children accompanied by parents, will be admitted to the game free.

WHL QUAKERS SEEK SEPARATE LEAGUES

SASKATOON, Sask. (BUP)—The Saskatoon Quakers will propose that the Western Hockey League be split into two separate circuits with a shorter schedule at the league's annual meeting in Calgary next week, it was learned today.

Manager Norm Couch said the team wanted the interlocking schedule between the coastal and prairie divisions abandoned and the schedule reduced from 70 to 60 games. He added that he favored the proposal that players' salaries be reduced, an item already on the agenda.

A decision will be made by the Quaker executive after the meeting whether to continue operating during the 1957-58 season or turn the club over to some other group.

Rocks Rocked By Nanaimo

By DENNY BOYD
Nanaimo 16, Victoria 10

How those Nanaimo Timbermen must have snickered when the politicians buried the hatchet between Victoria and Nanaimo.

All the time that the mayors of the two cities were butting each other up with talk of peace in our time, the Timbermen were away in a corner, plotting dark things for this lacrosse season.

First indication that the Timbermen were having no truck with a Victoria alliance came Saturday night when they almost annihilated the Shamrocks, 21-7.

Having patfed it on, the Timbermen rubbed it in Wednesday night at Memorial Arena by gassing the beleaguered Canadian champs, 16-10.

Tonight the Shamrocks have the recourse of snapping vengeance at the New Westminster Salmonbellies. The Bellies are in the league basement and they host the Rocks at Queens Park Arena tonight.

The other ray of hope in the Shamrock camp is that they are reopening negotiations with the Intercity Lacrosse League and with Bob Bremner in an effort to have the mainland forward's case reviewed. Bremner's transfer was blocked by the league before the season opened but the Rocks feel they now have a strong argument in their need for forward strength.

Certainly, the Rocks needed help somewhere Wednesday against Timbermen, who made the Victoria club look bad.

While rookie goalie Don Hamilton had a rather shaky night in the net, he couldn't be blamed for the loss, not by a long way. And he won't be responsible for any subsequent losses his club suffers as long as the Irish play as bad defensive lacrosse as they did Wednesday. They didn't check and they suffered for it. Furthermore, they did not have the bounce to regain the goals they gave away.

Shamrock coach Whitey Severson said following the game, "We were loose, too loose. We didn't check anyone all night."

Sherry and he got five goals in spite of all the warnings I gave our guys about him."

In the other powder room, Nanaimo coach Harry Wipperfleugh, back expansively and said, "We looked quite good but Victoria was a very poor club tonight. I still think we have a long way to go but we have the material and the spirit."

Pointing to the ample tummy protruding from Derry Davies, Wipperfleugh said accusingly, "Some of our players are lardy but next week they all go on the scales until they get down to their proper weights. Some of them will suffer if they want to make this club."

Wipperfleugh allowed as how he was pleased with the work of Sherry, the slender forward who scored four goals on four shots against Victoria Saturday night. This time, Sherry hit for five goals on five shots. The first four shots were pumped into a top corner and the fifth goal came when Sherry intercepted a Hamilton pass and, with almost bored indifference, dumped it into the net.

Al Gill, who never quits trying, powered in five of Shamrocks' 10 goals and added two assists while the ever-improving Bill Bamford added five assists to his league-leading total.

Peewee Bradshaw made his return to the line-up, scored a goal and picked up a four-stitch gash on his forehead when he was cross-checked into the crease and collided with Fred Fulla's stick.

Kramer Rejoins Net Troupe

While the singles match between Pancho Gonzales and Tony Trabert will be the feature attraction of the evening, Jack Kramer's appearance on the courts at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club Friday night on the world championship professional tennis tour show will be an event tennis enthusiasts won't want to miss.

Kramer, promoter of the tour, which is in Victoria for one night only, originally dropped out of active competition this year, but plans to play here and in succeeding matches as a tune-up for several pro tournaments scheduled this summer.

Jack has one of the greatest records ever achieved by a tennis player. Now 34 years old, he is in his 20th year as a player.

During his professional tennis life, he has won the championship tour four times.

Jack will play either Rex Hartwig, former Australian amateur ace, or Pancho Segura, master of the two-handed forehand.

Other matches will be between Trabert and Gonzales, and a doubles encounter with Gonzales and Segura vs. Trabert and Hartwig.

Whichever player Kramer lines up against, he will find himself in a battle.

Segura, conceded to be the most colorful player in tennis, is deadly with his spectacular backhand and his bird-dog retrieving skill and fighting heart, while Hartwig, the best doubles player in tennis, is master of a brilliant range of shots and has tremendous stroking power.

GONZALES THE STAR

Gonzales, of course, is the present champion. He has already defeated Trabert on this tour, winning the professional title for the second time. An all-round athlete, he has the most dynamic serve in modern tennis, once clocked at 112 miles per hour.

Trabert is on his first professional tour. World amateur champion last year and a member of the United States Davis Cup championship team, Tony was persuaded to turn pro by Kramer. While he has lost his first tour, his Kramer-like game will keep him up around the top in pro ranks.

The show, which will have the two singles matches followed by the doubles, will start at 8.

Fontana Takes Doubles Title

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Canadian Davis Cupper Don Fontana of Toronto and Hamilton Richardson, a member of the United States Davis Cup team, Wednesday won the men's doubles at the Priory lawn tennis tournament by defeating Britain's John Barrett and Tony Pickard 6-2, 6-4.

Richardson defeated Barrett 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 to win the men's singles title.

LADDER DERBY

Bob McDonald took over top spot in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby today with a 28-pound 14-ounce spring salmon.

The fish, caught off the marker at Deep Cove at 7 Wednesday night, has raised hopes of anglers that a new run of fish has started in the inlet.

The spring was taken on a strip teaser with 12 ounces of weight and a 15-pound test leader.

In other catches Wednesday, Gordon Aaronson moved up the ladder with an eight-pound two-ounce fish, while Rudy Cingle got off with a seven and one-half-pounder.

USC Next For Probe?

Illegal Payments Charged By Los Angeles Attorney

Executive members of the Pacific Coast Football Conference packed their bags with reams of top-secret material Wednesday and left Victoria. But before they left, they intimated that they may call another special meeting to consider accusations against the University of Southern California.

The newest accusations, followed hot on the heels of the PCC's weekend meeting at the Empress Hotel which resulted in the University of California at Los Angeles being fined the equivalent of $93,000, being put under three-year probation with loss of Rose Bowl rights and Rose Bowl receipts, and the loss of one year eligibility for all athletes who accepted illegal payments.

Earlier this year University of Washington was hit with a $33,000 fine and a two-year probation period.

The accusations were made earlier in the day in Los Angeles by a University of California at Los Angeles alumnus. The alumnus charged $71,237 was paid illegally to 60 USC athletes over a period of two years.

Information forwarded The alumnus, J. Miller Leavy, told a news conference he had forwarded the documentary evidence to conference officials.

Here for the spring meeting of the circuit, conference president Emmett Moore and commissioner Victor O. Schmidt said they had not yet received the information.

The conference statement said: "It is the intention of the conference to give prompt attention, at a special meeting if necessary, to the case of any member institution concerning which the conference, through its own investigation, the investigation of the individual institution or any other source, may come into possession of adequate information indicating a serious institutional violation within the established procedural framework of the conference which has been used in the consideration of the University of Washington and UCLA cases."

Next game, tonight: VICTORIA at New Westminster.

Murderer's Eyes To Grateful Man

Graham 'Did Wonderful Thing', Says Happy Wife of Recipient

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Arthur Weeds, who believes the eyes of executed murderer Robert Graham were used to restore her husband's sight, said Wednesday the 24-year-old miner hanged early Tuesday "did a wonderful thing for us."

Graham's family said Tuesday the corneas taken from his eyes an hour after he died on the gallows were used in an attempt to restore the sight of an unnamed eight-year-old boy.

But one of his sisters said Wednesday: "He wanted them to go to an eight-year-old boy he knew but he wouldn't mind who got them as long as they did someone some good."

Mrs. Weeds believes the corneas were transplanted to the eyes of her 32-year-old husband, totally blind in one eye and with the other one affected so badly he has been out of work for two months.

"In two or three weeks he'll be around again and able to see," she said. "Then we can go together and see the Grahams to thank them and show them the good their son has done."

Graham was hanged for kicking to death 21-year-old William Holman, who died in a brawl last August. The murderer was converted to Christianity a short time before he was hanged and filled out papers allowing use of his eyes to help a blind person.

Hospital officials confirmed they had obtained the corneas but said there was no eye grafting operation at the Vancouver General Hospital Tuesday when the corneas were reported to have been transplanted to the eyes of a small boy.

Inquiries about what had happened to the eyes brought only "don't know" answers from the hospital press officer. He said that eyes "lose their identity" when taken to the hospital and the person receiving them might not like to know where they were obtained. "I don't mind where they came from so long as my husband can see," said Mrs. Weeds.

An eye specialist said, however, that "the eye bank is usually empty. We have an awful time getting corneas. When we get them we have to use them within 24 hours."

A hospital official admitted an operation was performed late Tuesday on an adult.

$150,000 FARM CENTRE
ABBOTSFORD — A $150,000 agriculture centre will be constructed near here at the earliest possible moment, Agriculture Minister Kiernan said Wednesday. He said the centre would be within three miles of the village. He expected construction to start this year.

OKAY NOW — Dean Kinley, 17 months old, is the hero of the children's ward in a hospital at Surrey, B.C., near Vancouver. He wears a football helmet, borrowed from the Vancouver Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, to protect his head. The child suffered a skull fracture when he was trapped between the rails of a track near his home. A train passed over him striking his head.

Enslaving of Dim-Wit May Cost 'Owner' 5 Years

DETROIT (UPI) — A Lansing, Mich., businessman faces a possible five-year prison sentence and $5,000 fine for enslaving a mentally incompetent and holding him in irons.

Malcolm N. Button, 55, who has a furniture business at Lansing and a large farm near Grayling, Mich., was indicted by a federal grand jury.

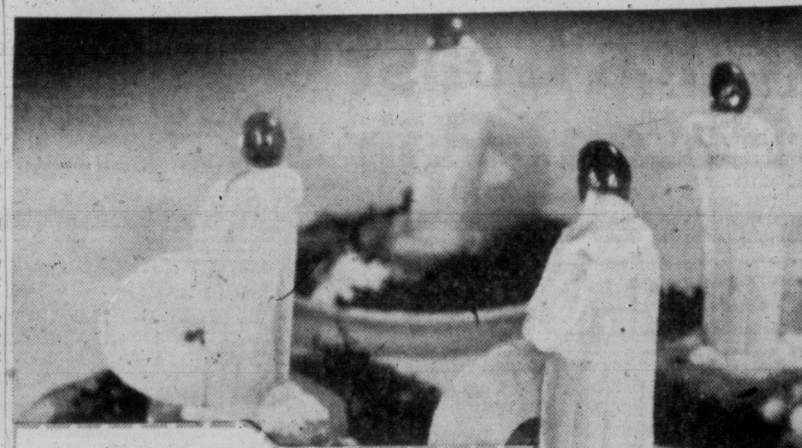

The jury charged Button with holding Chauncey A. Cook, 53, a ward of the court, in "involuntary servitude by threats, force, beatings and physical restraint." No date was set for Button's arraignment.

Button was named Cook's legal guardian in 1951 by the Ingham county probate court, which paid $21 a month for the man's board and keep.

Welday said Cook would sometimes run away with "leg irons and all" and last June he was found wandering about Lansing, still in chains.

Cook was declared mentally incompetent in 1940. He is being taken care of by relatives at Lansing.

15 Pilgrims Die When Boat Burns

MANILA (AP)—A boat loaded with 100 Filipino Roman Catholic pilgrims burned off Leyte island Wednesday. At least 15 persons were reported dead and 12 missing. Most of the victims were ailing men, women and children en route to receive the annual blessing of a local patron saint in northern Leyte.

BAND GREETSHAGGY NAG BACK HOME

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP)—Elijah, the horse, came home to a brass band, a parade and a cheering throng Wednesday after spending the winter trapped on a 13,000-foot mountain ridge.

The shaggy, one-time pack-horse took the celebration in stride.

His owners, Al and Bill Turner, reached this western Colorado community of about 1,100 persons late Wednesday afternoon and before anyone had a chance to say much, a welcome home parade was under way.

First came the high school band, then a float depicting the hay lift that kept him alive during his lonely stay, and then Elijah, led by a halter. Following the horse were more floats, cars and marchers. The parade was about a half mile long and was watched by some 1,000 residents, tourists and fishermen.

Wednesday night Elijah was taken by truck to Denver for display in an honor stall at a race track.

Price-Fixing Charge Faces Appliance Firm

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has decided to launch court prosecution against Moffat Limited, manufacturers of household appliances, in connection with alleged breaches of the resale price maintenance ban, combines authorities said Wednesday.

The producer of stoves, refrigerators, washing machines and other products was accused by the restrictive trade practices commission last November of breaking the controversial 1951 law barring manufacturers from attempting to set the price of their products in wholesale or retail trade.

Moffat has its head office at Weston, Ont., with branch offices in Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba and British Columbia. It is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Avco Manufacturing Corporation of New York.

The commission, in a report to Justice Minister Garson, charged last November that the company attempted to control prices through a plan whereby it paid a portion of a dealer's advertising costs. The payment was made only if the dealer, in advertisements on Moffat products, inserted prices approved by the manufacturer.

The court prosecution will take place in Toronto.

2,000 ACRES PLANTED WITH YOUNG FIR TREES

With the planting of more than 2,000 acres of young trees at Campbell River, the provincial forestry service has completed its spring reforestation service. An official said damage caused to young plants by the severe winter frosts curtailed the program. In an average year some 5,000 acres are planted. Since the program started in 1939, more than 100,000 acres have been replanted. Some 60 forestry service men were employed this year in planting about 1,000 acres. The remainder of the work was done by private industry.

Floating Span To Aid Parking At Sooke Fete

SOOKE—A floating bridge will cross Sooke River on All-Sooke Day, July 21, according to plans now being made by Sooke Community Association, sponsors of the event.

It will join a parking space for 500 cars with the Sooke river flats on the opposite shore, where the annual celebration is to be held.

Children of the district will be encouraged to take part in preparations, it was announced by Eric Butler, president, at the regular meeting of the association.

The association is sponsoring an essay contest for Sooke school children on suggestions for an All-Sooke Day program, he said, and directors have proposed adding a junior committee to those already working on the celebration.

Because of the loss of financial help usually given by the now-defunct fish traps, the association will appeal to logging operators in the district for assistance.

Jack Keating, announced at the meeting that starting Saturday a $5 cash prize will be offered for the final game of the bi-monthly bingo sessions. Only 50 numbers will be called, however, and if there is not a winner, the money will be added to the prize for the next game.

Increase in Power Rates Set for Up-Island Users

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

B.C. Power Commission will revise its rates on meter readings on and after June 1 to bring in an estimated $720,000 in additional revenue annually. The rate adjustment will affect some 25,000 power users on Vancouver Island, including residential, commercial, power and primary power customers.

There will be no blanket increase in rates but a complicated system of rate revision has been effected. While many customers—mostly those in new suburban areas—will have lower bills, the majority will pay more.

In Nanaimo and Duncan, for instance, a residential customer using 150 kilowatt-hours a month will pay $5 after June 1, where he used to pay $4.50. In the suburban areas customers will pay $5 a month where the cost was formerly $4.86.

Save About $1

In some districts, such as Lake Cowichan, the average user (without range or water heater) will save about $1. Whereas, before he paid $5.33 for 125 kilowatt hours, he will now pay $4.30 including tax.

Bulk of the increased revenue will come from withdrawal of the 10 per cent "promptly payment" discount from all classes of service.

At the same time, irrigation rates will be reduced so that the customer who paid $5, less 10 per cent discount for prompt payment—$4.50—will still pay $4.50 without the discount.

"Removing the discount is in keeping with utility demands in recent years," a spokesman for the B.C. Power Commission said.

Minimum bills will be reduced to $1 for residential customers whose minimums now are $2 or $3 if a major appliance such as a range is installed.

Monthly minimum of $2 for commercial customers who are on a two kilowatt demand is reduced to $1. Special minimum bills now in effect in certain of the smaller, somewhat isolated districts remain unchanged.

New Block Added

In the residential class there is no increase in the kilowatt hour charge for the three consumption blocks, but fourth block is being added so that homes with extremely high monthly consumption—such as electrically-heated dwellings—are assessed for the additional service.

In many districts there will be reductions in the first and second blocks of monthly consumption, and in all cases, the third residential block will remain unchanged at one cent per kilowatt hour.

In the fourth residential block the charge will be 1½ cents per kilowatt hour, except in some high-cost isolated areas where the rate will be two and one-half cents.

In Nanaimo the present rate within the city is seven cents per hour for the first 40 kilowatt hours, two cents per hour for the next 120 and one cent per hour for all above.

Rates outside the city are eight cents for the first block, two for the second and one cent for all above. The rates for some islands—other than Vancouver Island itself—have been 10-2-1.

Under the new rates all of them will pay seven cents an hour for the first 40, two per hour for the next 120, one cent per hour for the next 440 and then 1½ cents for all above 600.

In the power class (generally small plants which take their power at distributed voltage) there will be lower rates in the first consumption block in some areas.

Primary power consumers will pay one-quarter of a cent per kilowatt hour more in the third consumption block with the first and second blocks remaining unchanged.

Diesel-operated districts will receive a reduced service charge—from 85 cents to 50 cents per kilowatt per month.

Said commission chairman T. H. Crosby:

"The demand for power on our system is continuing to increase at a staggering rate. Our 1955 load will be doubled by 1958 and more than tripled by 1961.

"We must move ahead at top speed to provide new sources of power. It means going to rivers which will be more costly to develop than those already harnessed; it means providing relatively expensive thermal plants in some areas.

"This, in turn, will result in higher capital charges which must be met by the commission. The money can be met from only one source—our customers."

Mr. Crosby added that in spite of rising costs for other goods and services, "this is the first time we have found it necessary to initiate a general rate revision."

Boom Men Hustle Pulpwood to Rafts

LADYSMITH—Boom men of the Comox Logging and Railway Company are now gathering about 9,000 cords of pulpwood into rafts which will be towed to the Elk Falls mill at Duncan Bay.

The pulpwood pieces, which range down to three-inch diameters, were bundled as they were loaded out of Second Lake at Nanaimo lakes, and brought down to the booming area by train.

During the operation there was one 30-car train loaded entirely with pulp. Joe Cliffe, general superintendent for the company, said, to his knowledge, this was the biggest single movement of pulp logs ever made on this coast.

The pulpwood is sent up to Duncan Bay each year about this time after the rising level of the Fraser river stops shipments of saw logs to the big Canadian Western Lumber Company mill at New Westminster.

The pulpwood is stored in Second Lake during the period when the company is concentrating on saw logs.

SPEED UP

Mr. Cliffe said the company is trying to step up the rate of pre-logging in the summer months, because it has been found that it is easier to fall timber in the winter snow areas that have been pre-logged.

Pre-logging is more expensive, Mr. Cliffe said, but he feels that it can produce economies in the overall operations because of savings it will permit in other phases. It produces more and better pulp logs and should reduce accidents because it not only removes the snag, which cause most of the injuries, but leaves a cleaner working area, giving men more freedom of movement.

Mr. Cliffe said that the company would like to get farther ahead with pre-logging.

"All we have been able to do so far is keep up with the main logging operations," he said.

If the pre-logging can be advanced, it could mean more employment in the winter months he said.

Speaking of employment generally, he said that all loggers listed on the company's payroll are now working and plans are underway to put more machines into operation shortly.

Some road work has been delayed because of snow at the higher levels, but this will open up as soon as conditions permit he said.

School Track Stars Set Ladysmith Meet

LADYSMITH—Track and field stars of Duncan, Lake Cowichan, Shawnigan Lake, Nanaimo and Ladysmith high schools will compete here Saturday in the first central island district high school track and field meet.

Ladysmith was chosen because it has the best facilities for such a meet. It is the only high school in the area which has a cinder track.

Events will include junior and senior competitions for both boys and girls. Each school will enter teams comprised of its top performers in each competition.

Representatives from the Duncan-Cowichan and Chemainus Chambers of Commerce will be in attendance here June 4 when the local chamber will entertain members of the Salt Spring Island chamber at a no-host dinner, Steve Findlay, president of the Ladysmith chamber, announced this week.

Spring chamber are expected to attend, and Mr. Findlay expects total attendance at the dinner will be about 100.

Arrangements are being made to have a prominent speaker for the occasion.

Herb McKen has been elected president of the Ladysmith Kinsmen Club for the 1956-57 term. He succeeds Jack Ware, who will remain on the executive as past president.

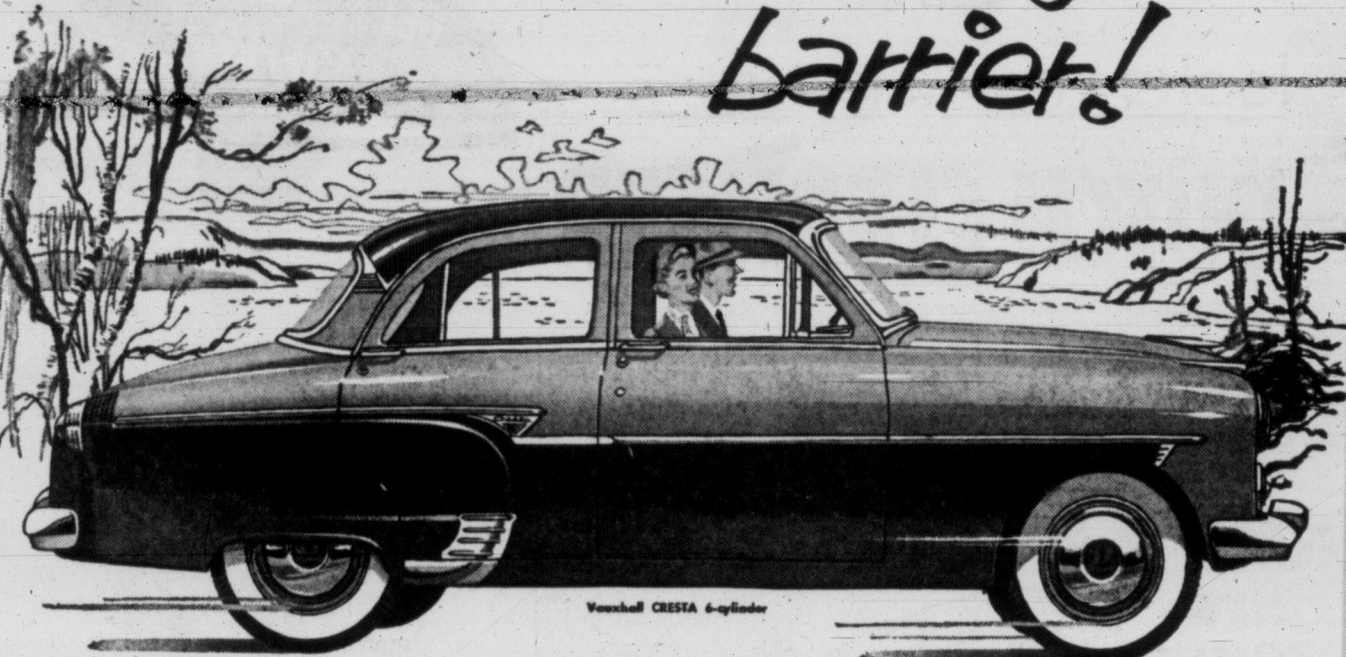

Other officers elected were: D. McKinnon, vice-president; Jack Rogers, Jr., secretary; Gordon Peach, treasurer; D. Matson, registrar; B. Atwood, J. Tukham and R. Stillin, directors.

Joe Cliffe and Norman Slessor have been elected as honorary members of the club.

'Music Making of Distinction' Marks Mozart Festival Concerts

BY AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
With Wednesday night's program of concert at Victoria High School auditorium, the series of three Mozart Festival concerts arranged by Hans Gruber and the Victoria Symphony Society has concluded.

But while a large part of musical Victoria was conspicuously absent on all three occasions, for those who were present, these concerts have not merely passed into history—they have made history. It has not been possible to listen to any one of the programs without realizing that they would do honor to the concert stages of far larger and more metropolitan centres than Victoria.

NEW HEIGHTS

It has been music making of distinction throughout but this final concert, at particular moments, rose to heights not previously achieved.

As instance, there was the breath-taking performance of Clifford Evans and Harry Gomez in the final movement of the Sinfonia Concertante for violin, viola and orchestra, and the utterly delightful quadruple concerto performance of the Sinfonia Concertante for four wind instruments and orchestra by Roland Dufrane, oboe; Stanley McCartney, clarinet; George Zukerman, bassoon, and Hans Stelzner, horn.

The demands placed upon the featured instrumentalists in this work are merciless, but individually and collectively this group of musicians performed with a fluency, an ease and security that made light of the most intricate passages.

STIMULATING

The unusual combination of kettle drums with strings in the Serenata Notturna which opened the program, was a stimulating and musically satisfying experience. The performance was smooth, shapely and beautifully balanced.

Dog Saves Child

Armed Forces Feuding Draws Ike Criticism

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday defended the right of the armed services to argue forcefully among themselves on the best way to protect the country. But he said these arguments should not be conducted in a manner to alarm the nation.

Speaking with tight-lipped intensity, Mr. Eisenhower said any officer who fails to support the president's decision on defense strategy is not fit for command.

The day discipline disappears from the military, he said, the nation will have no armed force worthy of mention.

The president, at his news conference, appealed to the country to appraise the strength of America as a massive whole involving the economy, the farms and the schools, and not only the development of one weapon against another.

The armed forces have been feuding over the merits of various service weapons and their respective roles in any future war.

He said he believes too much pessimism is being expressed in the U.S. about the condition of the world today.

COULD BE COOL SUMMER FOR OPTIMISTIC SKIPPER

AGASSIZ (CP)—Capt. Denis Harvey of the Rosedale-Agassiz ferry can look forward to a cool summer if the Fraser river rises six more inches.

He bet public works foreman Bill Cameron his shirt that the river wouldn't go above 19 feet this year. Wednesday afternoon the reading was 18.6. Last year he bet the water would rise over 19 feet and won a shirt.

'Right to Suffer' Remark Brings Apology to Labor

WASHINGTON (UP)—Presidential aide Howard Pyle apologized Wednesday night for stating in unemployment-plagued Detroit this week that "the right to suffer is one of the joys of a free economy."

Pyle is administrative assistant to President Eisenhower. The apology was issued by the White House after AFL-CIO vice-president Walter P. Reuther protested to the president that it was akin to Charles E. Wilson's famous "bird dog" remark.

In a scorching telegram to Mr. Eisenhower, Reuther said Pyle had been guilty of "calculated facetiousness" in discussing unemployment troubles of the auto industry while in Detroit Monday for a meeting of Republican women. Shortly after Reuther's telegram was received at the White House, assistant presidential news secretary Murray Snyder handed reporters a statement in which Pyle apologized "to anyone who might have been offended."

Cafeman Loses Appeal On Racial Conviction

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—A judge, over-ruling defence contentions that McKay is trying to make racial discrimination a "new crime," Wednesday upheld a magistrate's conviction of restaurateur Morley McKay for refusing services to Negroes.

Judge Harold Lang dismissed McKay's appeal, saying that the fact that a statute creates a penalty does not place it within the category of criminal law. W. A. Donahue, McKay's counsel, said the act was an "attempt on the part of the province to create a new crime."

Racial discrimination existed, unfortunately—but it had never been considered a crime in Canada. Judge Lang said it is perfectly clear that McKay's restaurant in nearby Dresden had denied service to Percy Bruce and Jake Alleyne, University of Toronto students who laid complaints.

It had not been necessary for McKay or a waitress to say: "I refuse to give you service." Rather it was a "plain case of actions speaking just as loudly as words."

Attlee's Ex-Secretary Named New British Envoy to Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is getting a new United Kingdom high commissioner next fall, one of the youngest ever sent to Ottawa.

He is Sir Saville Garner, 48-year-old undersecretary of state in the office of Commonwealth relations.

Canada will not be new to the one-time secretary to former British Labor party leader Clement Attlee. He served as senior secretary at the British high commissioner's office here in 1943 and later was appointed deputy high commissioner.

His appointment was announced in London early today.

He succeeds Sir Archibald Nye, 61, who was appointed high commissioner to Canada in 1952 and whose term of office expires late this year.

Close associates of the retiring high commissioner say he has no immediate plans. It is expected he will retire.

ROSE FROM RANKS

A soldier-diplomat who joined the British army as a private in 1914 and rose through the ranks to become a lieutenant-general in the Second World War, he was vice-chief of the Imperial General Staff from 1941 to 1946.

Sir Archibald later was British governor of the state of Madras in India, and then served from 1948 to 1952 as Britain's first high commissioner to that country after it became a republic.

He will return to Britain with Lady Nye and their 11-year-old daughter, Harriet. He has been heard to talk about a small retreat he has in England's New Forest.

Sir Archibald has been across Canada four times. He likes travelling, fishing and riding. He used to ride every morning at the high commissioner's residence at Earncliffe until a horse stumbled under him last year and he injured his back.

Sir Saville and Lady Garner are said to be keen skiers who have a love of music, reading and gardening. Saville is the new high commissioner's family name but when previously in Ottawa he was better known as "Joe."

SERVED UNDER NYE

Sir Saville is Cambridge-educated and was appointed to the Dominions office in 1930, serving as private secretary to Malcolm MacDonald, Lord Caldecote, the Marquess of Salisbury and Mr. Attlee among others. He accompanied Mr. Attlee on visits to Newfoundland and Canada in 1941 and 1942.

He was appointed to Ottawa in 1943 and served as senior secretary under Mr. MacDonald and as deputy high commissioner under Sir Archibald's predecessor here. He returned to the Commonwealth relations office in 1948 as assistant undersecretary, being promoted to deputy undersecretary in 1950.

He served under Sir Archibald as deputy high commissioner in India in 1951.

Lady Garner is Indiana-born. They have three children, two boys and a daughter, who was born in Ottawa. The children will accompany them to Canada.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

You can relax and stop speculating about whether or not there will be a B.C. election this year.

The fearless prediction is: there will. Mind you, this is not my own personal fearless prediction. The last time I made a personal fearless prediction, I said Shrove Tuesday would be the day after Pancake Monday and the prediction fell flat.

However, this fearless prediction is one based on considerable research by our Very Own Candidates, Messrs. Elmer Fadd, Elmer Fidd, Elmer Fudd, Elmer Fodd and Elmer Fydd. Messrs. Fadd to Fydd, inclusive, have explored the very grass roots of democracy, and have discovered—right from the horse's mouth, while the horse was eating grass from the grass roots—that there will, indeed, be an election this year.

Their reasoning is based on this simple premise: it has been stated there will be an election when it is in the best interest of the people to be told there will be an election.

As the spokesman for our Very Own Candidates, Elmer (Laughing Boy) Fadd puts it, "We ain't never said there wasn't going to be no election this year at no time, didn't we?"

Nothing could be more crystal-clear, with the possible exception of a crystal.

At this stage, our Very Own Candidates are convinced the up-coming election is certainly coming up, and they are losing no time in putting their political machine in high gear (first having the oil and gas checked, naturally).

Mr. Fodd, for instance, is practicing looking out the window and saying the sun never has shone any brighter and nobody can say I never said it would.

Mr. Fidd has been appointed convener of a committee to find more roads which need building.

Mr. Fudd has been appointed vice-president in charge of reasons why the roads (see above) haven't been built yet but will be, and he never said they wouldn't.

Mr. Fudd is concentrating on financial matters, such as keeping expenditures up and taxes down and a chicken in every pot. (Mr. Fudd never did put much faith in the Chicken Vote.)

Mr. Fydd is so far inactive. He feels, if he does little enough slow enough and late enough, he can be a defeated candidate and thus achieve lifetime security.

So never fear, our Very Own Candidates will be ready.

And yes, Virginia, there WILL be an election.

PAIR FOR PRAYER

Twin Evangelists Spark Double Takes

BY TONY DICKASON

Ralph and Louis Sutura are two missionaries now here who could feasibly drive primitive tribes to distraction.

Pop one in a pot, and the other could scare the loin cloths off the assembly by playing his violin at the clearing's edge.

This morning was even more mixed up than usual, thanks to the Sutura's... identical twins.

They are a pair of classically trained 24-year-olds from Union, New Jersey, here preaching a benevolent type of Christianity at Alliance Tabernacle nightly for 10 days at 7.45.

They describe themselves, almost in unison, as interdenominational evangelists. Both are ordained ministers of the Fundamentalist Ministerial Association.

Both preach; both sing; Louis plays the accordion and piano and Ralph does dramatic readings; both are interchangeable on the violin; both graduated from Bob Jones University of South Carolina in 1953.

In other words, they pretty well talk the same language.

Missing Witness Found, Jailed

Soldier Wanted for Testimony in Rape Trial Last March Found

A soldier who failed to appear as a Crown witness in a rape trial has been arrested and is now being held in custody in the city jail.

He is Maxwell Cyril Bigger of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, who was summoned to appear as a "material witness" for the trial of Private Gerard Joseph Green, who was acquitted in Assize Court in March of raping a 17-year-old high school girl.

Bigger will appear before a Supreme Court Justice Friday. Crown counsel Lloyd McKenzie, said Bigger was arrested on a warrant issued when he failed to appear as a Crown witness for the trial.

He said the soldier disappeared from the Gordon Head camp a week or so before the trial started at the courthouse.

At the conclusion of the trial, Mr. McKenzie informed the court that a wide search was being made for the witness, and if arrested contempt proceedings would be taken against him.

FAIRGROUND PARTY PLAN

City Gets Free Hand In Pandora Site Sale

A provincial order-in-council today gave Victoria city a free hand to seek a buyer for valuable property on Pandora Avenue which is expected to revert from Woodward Stores Ltd.

The city was advised by the store Wednesday it could have an additional 30-day option on the land without strings.

The provincial authority relieves the city of obligation to buy the land back from the company for corporate purposes only.

Woodward Stores extended the option deadline on agreement the city would also buy an additional small property adjoining for a price of $85,000.

This means the city must now pay $150,000 (the original price to the store) plus the cost of the additional land, $85,000, plus $35,000 carrying charges agreed to earlier, or a total of about $270,000.

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND THEY GO

About 15,000 cars pass through the Hillside-Douglas Roundabout in the two peak periods as Victorians go to and from work.

A total of 1,750 cars entered the Roundabout from North Douglas Street in an hour-and-a-half this morning.

These are preliminary findings a troop of city works officials reported after making eye-checks today.

Twenty men in groups of two at each entrance and exit at the Fountain Circle recorded licence plate numbers noting where the cars entered and where they left.

Health Workers Told to Vacate

Doctor Ignores Council In Move to New Quarters

Saanich medical health officer Dr. A. N. Beattie has ordered the staff of the Saanich and South Vancouver Island Health Unit to vacate its Burnside Road offices and to move to new quarters on Gorge Road.

The health officer, apparently fed up with former municipal council's refusal to provide more space for his health unit, took the action without notifying or seeking approval of council.

"We are bursting at the seams," Dr. Beattie said. "We are overcrowded. Conditions have become unbearable."

The new offices will be established at 464 Gorge Road East.

COUNCIL ACTION

The medical officer's action is expected to spur council to make one of two decisions:

1. Unify the Saanich health service with that of Victoria and Esquimalt.
2. Build additional offices for the health staff.

The doctor's move order came as a complete surprise to members of Saanich council.

Coun. Ainslee Worthington, chairman of the health and welfare committee, said Dr. Beattie should have first consulted council.

"He is certainly going to get an earful from me," he said. "Dr. Beattie may have been given the run-around by previous councils, but he certainly should have approached the new council."

(The previous council was favorable to providing additional space for Dr. Beattie last year, but former reeve Joseph Casey at the last moment opposed the plan.)

AGREES WITH BEATTIE

Mr. Worthington said he fully agreed with Dr. Beattie that the health unit was in need of additional space.

"Conditions are terrible, I know," he said. "They are even using the washroom as a filing room."

He was certain if Dr. Beattie had approached council, it would have attempted to provide him with additional offices.

Coun. Worthington said he health service with those of Victoria and Esquimalt as it would result in a more efficient service.

BAILING OUT of a CF-100 at 250 miles per hour is quite simple, according to FO Ken Parker, 23, of Lockport, Ont., who was ordered out by his pilot near Comox Tuesday when their twin jet engines died. "I just pulled the old handle, and the next thing I knew I was floating down toward the water in my parachute." After the canopy was jettisoned he pulled the lever that operated his explosive-powered ejection seat. "There was a loud bang, and I found myself somersaulting through the air. I floated down to the water, then inflated my dinghy and paddled ashore." The pilot was able to restart the jets and land safely.

Home Offers Aplenty For Rejected Family

Calls by the dozens have been coming into the Times and radio station CKDA since publication of the story Wednesday of a mother of four children who charged a city real estate firm with refusal to rent because her husband was in the army.

The home rental offers have been passed along to Mrs. Vera Dunham, newcomer here from the army camp at Chilliwack.

She complained she was refused permission to rent an Oak Bay home because her husband was in the army. He is a corporal at Work Point.

Vice-president of the Victoria Real Estate Board today denied any discrimination against soldiers' families in renting of homes.

Russell Ker said Mrs. Dunham was obviously "peevish" with the way her request was handled. It was just undiplomatic, that's all there is too it. Some of our best clients are soldiers.

The rental agent involved with the firm contacted by Mrs. Dunham today came out with a flat "I have nothing to say."

Mr. Ker said "no real estate agent is against anyone in the services," but there are many people who do not want to rent to people with children.

"Mr. Ker just doesn't know what goes on," said Mrs. Dunham. "That's the way service people are treated. That's the way we were treated, a refusal to rent a home to us."

Col. J. C. Cave, commandant at Work Point Barracks, said there was accommodation for 137 married couples at the barracks, but there was always a long waiting list for these. Accommodation was awarded on a point basis, so much for years in the army, overseas service, etc.

He said he had not heard of any complaints against Victoria realtors in respect to renting homes to soldiers with families.

ASK The TIMES

Q—I lost track of my pen pal in London, England. I wish to locate her. Shall I write to the Mayor of London? How should I address it? Also, how will he let me know? L.D.

A—As to where to write to re-establish the relationship, it should be pointed out that the Lord Mayor of London probably is so busy on multifarious duties that he would simply have the letter turned over to some newspaper or magazine which gives service in that field. It is suggested you write to the editor of the London Daily Mirror, who doubtless will explore to determine if that paper's services can aid you. Of course you will be quite clear about your address.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem, along with the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times," Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Keep Color on Your Lips Even While in Swimming

By PENNY SAVER

To the wide and wonderful selection of "stay-on" lipsticks, we welcome a newcomer. Waterproof lipstick, a girl's best companion at the beach or for sports, is here just in time to usher in summertime activities. This new product doesn't dry the lips, and contains silicone, a non-drying ingredient which forms a film that aids in resisting water. It contains, also, nutritive, basic, also non-drying component that is beneficial to the lips, keeping them healthy, soft and luminous. The lipstick has a thin texture, which means that it glides on for a smooth and light coating to the lips.

Because of its unique texture, it holds a precise outline, which is most welcome to the woman who is constantly irritated by lipsticks which creep up into the area surrounding the mouth and ruin the contour of the lips. Another feature of this lipstick is that it will remain "true" to you. This means that as well as staying on, it stays in its true color, which may be true red, the reddest shade imaginable; true coral, beautiful with a suntan; true pink, delicate and tempting and true blue, red, vibrant and torchy. The lipstick is $1.50.

The cosmetic companions for the lipstick are waterproof mascara, which many women have found so effective and flattering, and eye cream special. A gentle, soothing cream, which is perfect for the removal of waterproof mascara, and at the same time it smooths out the fine squint lines that are so apt to form, especially in the summer. The cream is $2.50 and the mascara $1.50.

Now we've taken care of the lips and eyes, let us pay some attention to our hands, or more correctly to the coverings for our hands. Delightful Italian-made stretchy gloves in brown, red, or navy and white hair-line stripes have appeared just in time to go with summer frocks and suits.

The gloves are short-sleeved, that reach just to the wrist, so that you can comfortably wear that tapered sleeve jacket, or wear gay bangles or bracelets without the glove interfering. For extra special occasions, the lace, white elasticized gloves that look just like soft, open-work hand-made lace, will match your lace shoes, or go with any number of sunline outfits. Oh, a gentle, soothing cream, which is perfect for the removal of waterproof mascara, and at the same time it smooths out the fine squint lines that are so apt to form, especially

Georgina May Walker Wed On Parents' Anniversary

In a ceremony in St. John's Anglican Church, Miss Georgina May Walker and Wilfred Owen Jones exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony performed by Canon George Biddle in a setting of pastel-toned spring flowers. The young couple were married on the bride's parents' anniversary.

Mrs. R. F. Chubb, organist, accompanied soloist, Miss Florence Smith, who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy H. Walker, 743 Selkirk Avenue, was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown was of broadened satin, floor-length, fashioned on princess lines with a strapless bodice of net and pearls. She wore a tiny matching jacket.

A crown of lace and pearls held her chapel veil. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls with matching earrings, the groom's gift. Red roses and white carnations were in her cascade bouquet.

Matron of honor, Mrs. G. Carter, sister of the bride, and bridesmatron, Mrs. W. Merluk, were identically gowned in pale yellow chiffon over taffeta. Their headresses were of matching yellow net trimmed with mother of pearl sequins.

Junior bridesmaid was the bride's niece, Miss Pat Carter, who wore a pale turquoise taffeta princess style dress. Her head bandeau was pink roses.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Dated Hair Styles Make You Look Old

It is always fun to talk with a woman. It should be becoming of today's truly distinguished hair in trend to be up to date. Michel (Helen Rubinstein), one of her but it can also be enough of today's truly distinguished hair in trend to be up to date. He continued, "A woman looks least to some extent, so that you will not look dated, and therefore older."

I visited with him in New York not long ago. This year he is introducing what he calls his "Parasol Look." If this is as popular as his Poodle Cut was a few years ago we had better learn about it.

This is a softly tapered-inward coiffure, demi-length. The length he calls demi-length is just below the ear lobes. No curls are visible. He uses what he calls the "under-cut" which is just as it sounds. The hair underneath is curled to give body but the top hair is straight. This new cutting and waving allows each creation to have smooth, long curves to fit the individual face.

Michel takes the current styles in hats and clothes into consideration when designing new hairdos. His smooth, sleek coiffures go beautifully with this season's billowing hats and Empire dresses.

I asked Michel how far along he thinks a woman should go with current styles, whether she should sacrifice becomingness to style. He answered: "A current fashion can always be adapted to the individual."

It is true that what we are accustomed to looks good to us. This stylist is aware of the fact that women are afraid to change their hairdo and therefore he shows them just what the new style will look like before he begins actual work on them.

To show the aging effect of a dated hairdo, Michel coiffed a daughter 20 years old and her mother who was 40, giving the daughter the old-fashioned hair style and the mother the modish one. If you could see your pictures I am certain that you would be completely confused and would think that the daughter is the mother and vice versa.

From this interview I bring you three definite bits of advice:

1. Try for an uncurled, sleek but shaped style, to go with the sea-son's hats.

2. The hair should always be lifted at the temples if a woman is middle-aged or more. You should have this life even if the hair is reversed and turns back toward the face.

3. Change your hair fashion, at least to some extent, so that you will not look dated, and therefore older.

PARKS ANNOUNCEMENT DUE SOON, SAYS MAYOR

Mayor Percy Scurrell said today he expects an early announcement by the province on whether it will take over Goldstream and Thetis Lake parks for development as provincial recreation centres.

He said he is optimistic that Goldstream area will be developed by the province as a camping and picnicking site.

The city has awaited reply to its offer to give up possession for several months. The mayor said he learned after the offer was made that the decision will be a matter of major policy with the cabinet because many other provincial centres are expected to make similar offers if the plan is accepted.

B.C. CULTURE CENTRE?

Expansion Program Planned for Library

A campaign to make Victoria Public Library a "culture centre for the whole province" was outlined by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot to the library-board Wednesday.

His plan, which is expected to go into effect as early as July, received tentative approval.

Includes: expansion of the present film loan facilities, a new system of loaning long-play recordings on the same basis as books, setting up of branch libraries at the two main Victoria hospitals, and inauguration of twice-monthly social evenings devoted to art, music, films, lectures and displays.

The displays would be tied in with the subject for the evening. One evening would be devoted to the Queen Anne period, another Elizabethan, another on the modern world, and would involve showing of museum pieces relative to the times in case of bygone ages.

SPEAKERS
Capt. Proudfoot said he hoped there would be as many as three speakers in one evening. The subjects would be presented in a light manner which would maintain interest of the layman in the world of arts, he stated.

He suggested the programs be limited to 12, bi-monthly in September, October, November, January, February and March. "This is our chance to develop what we should have developed 20 years ago—a proper centre of culture for the whole province," he said.

Part of the overall plan will be facilitated by a National Film Board decision to remove from University of B.C. a headquarters of loan films on some 750 subjects.

These films will be rotated throughout the province and the Victoria library collection of 190 films would be brought to the city.

RECORD LENDING
The library of music now contains over 200 recordings and is being added to constantly. By July it is hoped these will be available to loan by any OTTAWA (CP)—Five more Canadian army officers are being sent to Palestine to serve on the United Nations truce supervisory team there, the external affairs department announced today.

This will bring the total to 10 Canadian officers serving in Palestine.

library's cardholder who will put up a $1 deposit.

Captain Proudfoot has suggested that a borrower be allowed to take at one time, for a seven-day period, one complete opera or complete symphony (three long-play records), or one musical comedy, or any other three long play, high fidelity recordings.

Board member Frank Mulliner, suggested, $1 was not a large enough deposit for $10 worth of records but the board felt the deposit could be raised after a trial period, if necessary. It was pointed out that a book borrower pays no deposit and takes out books often of far greater value.

PAY SPEAKERS?
It was suggested by Prof. R. T. Wallace that the library should pay the speakers at the gatherings. He said he thought the provincial library grant authorities would approve the expense.

The board was told a grant of $10,655 was available this year depending upon what amount was left over from last year's grant. This proved to be $16. Uses for the grant this year were estimated as follows: publicity $1,000, plastic covers for books $750, cataloguing materials $750, reading-room equipment $500; films $1,000, recordings $1,000, art reproductions (also for loan) $1,000, and new books $4,695.

The consideration of setting up of branch libraries at St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee Hospitals followed a request from Mr. Mulliner on behalf of the hospital board.

A committee is to be named to assist Capt. Proudfoot in the carrying out of the extensive program.

NEW TV GADGET

You Can Trap Channel Five

By PHIL LEE
Times TV Editor

As tempus fugit Wednesday and local Channel 6 and possible co-channel interference with Seattle's popular Channel 5 moved one day closer, a benign, smiling gentleman from Toronto entered the Times to display what he called "the Victoria trap."

Actually what Sid Wellum carried in his hand was a "Montreal trap," designed and manufactured by Benco of Toronto for the Montreal market where a condition of co-channel interference exists similar to what is expected to exist in Victoria when David M. Armstrong, owner of local radio station CKDA, starts to exercise his Channel 6 TV licence.

In Montreal, according to Mr. Wellum, Benco's general manager, local Channels 2 and 6 were interfering badly with popular American Channels 3 and 5. However, now that the "Montreal trap" has been added, viewers can watch any channel offered with the minimum of interference. He is currently in town studying what will be necessary to see that "the Victoria trap" works as well.

Mr. Wellum said the trap—a lightweight affair that is fitted on the back of the set—would retail here for approximately $15. Of course, he added, there would be a small service charge as well.

He also pointed out that the "Victoria trap" was not designed to combat local channel interference in the Victoria area but was meant merely to give local viewers a choice of viewing without affecting their blood pressure to an alarming degree.

Refusal to Obey Policeman Brings Obstruction Charge

Prosecution and defence argument regarding alleged obstruction of a police officer will be heard in city police court Tuesday at the trial of George Roycroft Johnson, 20, 568 Paradise. Johnson was charged with obstructing Constable Norman Galbraith on May 12 when police were dispersing a group of about 200 people at the Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition midway show.

Defence counsel J. E. Gatehouse submitted that there was no obstruction as the accused never touched the constable or verbally refused to do as directed.

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow contended failure to obey a lawful command of an officer is obstruction.

Constable Galbraith testified that he spoke to the accused three times, telling him to move out on the street.

After speaking to him the third time, the constable told Johnson: "I have told you for the last time. Move out on the street. I am not going to tell you again," court heard.

Constable Galbraith said when Johnson tried to dodge back toward the crowd a fourth time he arrested the youth.

Johnson said there was a crowd in front of him advancing toward an exit, and that he wanted to leave the midway by another exit. He did not speak to the constable.

"We were doing our best to quell a disturbance which might have developed into a riot," Constable Galbraith said.

Military Music Banned From W. German Radio

BONN (Reuters)—A major West German radio network has decided not to put on more programs featuring military marches, although a poll it organized showed that one in every three listeners want them.

One listener said his reason for wanting more military music was that "it makes me feel like a real soldier again." Another said "it reminds me of our advance into Flanders."

But the directors of the North German radio network, biggest in West Germany, contend that as long as even a single listener considers that such songs remind him of the Hitler regime, the concentration camps or the death of a son, there will be no increase in martial music.

The old marching songs are making a comeback, however, particularly in juke boxes, restaurants and beer halls.

Dept. of Transport Technicians May Get High-Wage Contracts

BY VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Difficulties encountered by the transport department in obtaining an adequate supply of professional and technical personnel to man its air services, may be overcome by allowing some civil servants to leave the department and re-engage on contract rates, much higher than existing salaries.

Such steps are being planned by the federal department, it was learned from informed sources Wednesday.

It is understood that plans to counter the loss of personnel by the transport department's air service have been approved in principle by the government.

They are now under detailed examination by the treasury board. Announcement of formal approval of the plans, is expected within the next two weeks.

The department is experiencing the most difficulty in the manning of its 27 Arctic outposts. The federal government has found itself at a particular disadvantage in the far north where private firms are ready to pay astronomical sums in order to obtain the trained manpower required.

Second Heart Attack Hits Romania Chief

LONDON (Reuters)—Romanian President Petru Groza suffered another heart attack Wednesday—his second in a week—Agereps, the Romanian news agency, reported. His general condition remains satisfactory, it added.

Groza, 71, suffered his first attack last Thursday and was ordered to take a complete rest.

In order to meet the competition the transport department is considering the hiring of personnel on contract at salaries which are comparable to those paid by private companies. In addition members of the air division in Arctic outpost may be permitted to leave the civil service and take on two-year contracts with the department at rates which in some cases are double present basic salaries.

BY FREEMAN KING

All those who took part in the Scoutrama can now say "project completed — a fine job." Don't forget to get your tickets or money in before May 28 so you can get your percentage.

The executive council will meet on Thursday evening at 8 in headquarters, 1034 Johnson street.

Parkville Group: At a banquet held by the group Teddy Butler and Larry Hodgson were presented with their Queen's Scout badges by District Commissioner Tom Tyron. This is the highest honor a scout can earn in scouting. It is the first time that a Queen's Scout badge has been awarded in the group since 1924.

The guests were welcomed by Walter Thompson, the chairman. Don Robinson, regional game biologist gave an interesting address on game conservation and showed a film of big game on Vancouver Island.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy!

Andy, who is a prize, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers in Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 30-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Who Invented the Sewing Machine?

A sewing machine is a wonderful gadget to own. Mother can make you a fine new dress in half a day. If the machine is up to date, she can use it to make the buttonholes. She can even use it to add a touch of fancy embroidery stitching. She may use it to mend socks and run up a pair of curtains in a jiffy. Maybe she will help you to make an apron with that wonderful sewing machine.

All this fast fun was impossible 150 years ago. For a workable home sewing machine had not then been invented. All sewing was done by hand—and you know how long that takes. The idea of a sewing machine started almost 200 years ago. Many people tried to make one. And later, there were others who added a new idea here and there to improve the machine.

Way back in 1730, Thomas Saint, of London, took a patent on a sewing machine. His machine was for stitching leather. But the idea did not catch on at that time. In 1830, Barthelmy Thimmonier got into real trouble with the sewing-machine he invented. He nearly lost his life on account of it.

This was in Paris, where many seamstresses earned their living by sewing. They feared that the new machine would put them out of business. Barthelmy's tailor shop was mobbed and his machines smashed to bits.

A few years later, then man who is given credit for inventing the safety pin got busy on a sewing machine. He was Walter Hunt of New York. Walter's machine was invented for sewing cloth. But it couldn't make curved seams and it had to be reset every few inches. This grandpa of sewing machines was not patented. Hunt thought that if it became popular it would put many tailors and seamstresses out of work.

In 1846, Elias Howe of Massachusetts made a much better machine. He did not win the patent rights for another eight years. Isaac Singer won certain rights for improving Howe's machine.

Still other inventors added their ideas before the sewing machine, as we know it, was on its way. Allen Wilson showed how to feed cloth into the machine. John Ratchelder helped it to make longer seams. The chain stitch idea was developed by James Gibbs and James Willcox. And countless other inventors have added their ideas to bring us the modern sewing machine. What's more, other improvements are still being added.

As you see, a lot of inventors worked to bring us the wonderful sewing machine. Such a machine was needed and, as always, there were plenty of wide awake inventors to give us what we need. And is anybody out of this invention? Of course not. More people are earning their living with the help of the sewing machine that ever worked at hand sewing and tailoring.

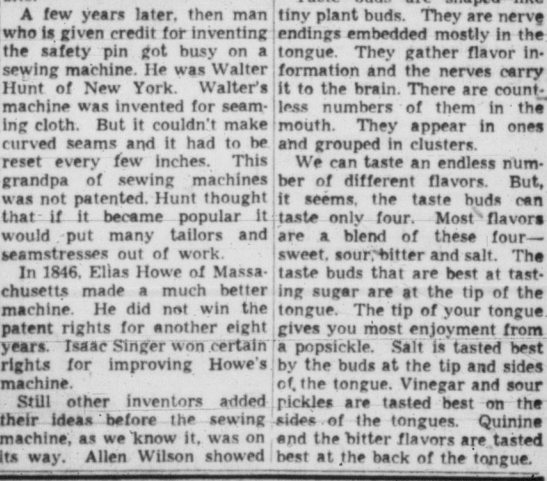

Andy sends a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" to Sandra June Showers, age 11, of Ephrata, Penna., for her question:

What are taste buds?

Without our taste buds, we could never tell whether we were eating salt or sugar. Our food, in fact, would have no flavor at all. How dull! But, except perhaps when we have a cold, these tiny helpers are waiting inside the mouth to give us pleasure, start the food digesting and make sure we do not swallow something horrible.

Taste buds are shaped like tiny plant buds. They are nerve endings embedded mostly in the tongue. They gather flavor information and the nerves carry it to the brain. There are countless numbers of them in the mouth. They appear in ones and grouped in clusters.

We can taste an endless number of different flavors. But, it seems, the taste buds can taste only four. Most flavors are a blend of these four—sweet, sour, bitter and salt. The taste buds that are best at tasting sugar are at the tip of the tongue. The tip of your tongue gives you most enjoyment from a popickle. Salt is tasted best by the buds at the tip and sides of the tongue. Vinegar and sour pickles are tasted best on the sides of the tongues. Quinine and the bitter flavors are tasted best at the back of the tongue.

Irene Byatt Returns From Studies Abroad

Irene Byatt, Victoria contralto, who has been studying abroad for the past few years, has returned to Canada with the determination to test her chances as an artist on this continent.

Miss Byatt's explanation is that in England most professional engagements take place during two seasons—Christmas and Easter—and in between there are too few opportunities to allow of a comfortable livelihood.

This past season she made her Wigmore Hall debut, receiving excellent notices from all reviewers.

She also made her first TV appearance both acting and singing a role in a musical version of Dickens' "Christmas Carol." She was the only nonprofessional actress in the company.

Miss Byatt plans to spend the summer on the coast where she has tentative offers of professional engagements, after which she will go to Toronto, where she plans to make her headquarters.

THERE'S INTERESTING AND INFORMATIVE READING FOR YOU IN SATURDAY'S TIMES!

Fashion News
Stylish fashions designed for the lady-in-waiting by Ottawa's Frances Stewart have a different line and less bulkiness.
Photos accompanying Helen Gougeon's article show several of the more popular designs.

Boy-sized Boatyard
Three years of hard work by 14-year-old John Kaulback of Oakland, N.S., have been put into his scale model boatyard on the Atlantic coast. Everything from tomato cans and odds and ends have been used for this tiny yard which attracts many visitors. Photostory by Cyril Robinson and Louis Jaques appears in our Weekend Magazine.

Canada's Lady Diplomat
In the Middle East States where women are more often seen than heard Miss Elizabeth MacCallum became a nine days' wonder after her appointment as head of the Canadian legation in Lebanon. Don't miss this feature in our Weekend Magazine written by Associate Editor David Willock.

Iced Soup
Just the thing for hot weather meals is a bowl of chilled soup, says Helen Gougeon in her good food column. Her recipes this week include a delightful variety of these cold dishes.

Bull Bait
When Greg Clark went bird watching in Texas he was chased by a bull and had to take refuge for several hours at the top of a windmill ladder.
Don't miss his amusing anecdote in our Weekend Magazine.

Canine Caddy
Tired of the usual run of caddies, an American has fixed up his Labrador retriever with a special harness and after patiently training him, now has the perfect caddy. Photos accompany the feature in Andy O'Brien's sports column.

African Farmer
A buffalo asleep in the living room, lions wandering in and out of the house are not unusual sights on the big game farm of Mr. Carr Hartley in Kenya. He sells his animals to circuses, zoos and film companies. Don't miss this interesting photostory in our Weekend Magazine.

Comics For All
Without doubt Weekend Magazine's comic section with all your favorites in full color is the best comic paper in Canada.
Don't miss it this week-end.

Twinkle Toes
Now that the warmer weather approaches, Elizabeth Wood suggests you brighten up your tired feet with a home or professional pedicure.

Singer-Typist
Canadian June Grant had visions of being an opera singer but when she went to England to try her luck she spent as much time typing as singing.
Don't miss reading about June's adventures from the time she left her newspaper reporter's job in Halifax. Our Weekend Magazine Article is written by Marjorie Whitelaw.

Old Folks at Home
For $80.00 a month old folks are able to live in a comfortable hotel at Miami Beach just a few blocks from the plush ocean-front luxury palaces. Watch for our Weekend Magazine photostory which shows how these old people work around the hotel to help pay their way.

Where Shall We Go?
Now that the instalment plan holidays are here to stay, more and more people are going farther and faster than ever before, says Weekend staff writer Robert McKeown. More planes, trains, ships and highway networks entice the vacationer away from that old familiar holiday spot.

Underwater Playground
As much at home on the bottom of a swimming pool as on the top is 19-month-old Julie Sheldon. In this special pool children frolic under the water. Our Weekend

JHE JANITOR
The green painted, the lilac sign.
The garden gave a sleep.
And old man Evening, having hurried in, he found the house.

He patched the old barn till it seemed Within its shadow, strong and green.
And where a row of tulips dreamed
He dusted lavender & blue.

And when he'd tidied yard & road
And checked his work with careful eyes
He took his needle then & sewed

Canada Decides on All-Stars To Seek Ice Title From Russ

Top Amateurs To Train in B.C. For World Tilt

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association decided today that an all-star team should represent Canada at the 1957 world hockey tournament in Moscow.

Training centre would be set up in Vernon, B.C., home of the Allan Cup champions. The motion carried at the CAHA general meeting was offered by Ken Moore of Regina and included a stipulation that every member of the Vernon Canadians, Allan Cup winners, be invited to attend and given every opportunity to make a place on the team. The plan is in line with suggestions placed before the meeting by CAHA secretary-manager George Dudley of Midland, Ont. The team will assemble in Vernon next fall, probably early in October, to begin training and exhibition games and eventually will travel across Canada. Exhibitions will be played against top amateur teams and also against National Hockey League teams. Arrangements will be made for playing exhibition games in Europe under rules obtaining there prior to going to Moscow. A committee will be set up of capable hockey executives across the country to handle arrangements for assembling the team. Coaches of all amateur clubs will be asked to submit names of their top senior and junior players who would be sent to Vernon. The entire squad that would start training in Vernon would number about 30.

WHO'S WHO?

Missionary twins from Union, N.J., Ralph and Louis Suter, pose problem in identification for audience at Alliance Tabernacle where they are preaching nightly at 7.45. Pair don't believe in sombre clothes, as readily seen. They are university grads and ordained. (See story, page 17.)

Mounting Fire Hazard Now 'Grim'

Pender Harbor
Blaze Raging
Over 600 Acres

Drenching rains in some Greater Victoria districts Wednesday night did nothing to alleviate the "extreme fire hazard" in Vancouver Island and lower mainland forests.

The rain extended only as far north on the Island as Courtenay but did not reach the mainland.

Humidity in southwestern B.C. forests today stayed at the danger level of 30 to 35. Forest officials said today situation is grim and there's no relief in sight.

"We're sitting on the edge of our seats," said D. B. Taylor, chief of Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island.

"There's no hope of rain, at all. Any fire could spread quickly. The situation's very serious."

Worst blaze is at Pender Harbor, on the mainland 50 miles north of Vancouver.

Buildings and fire-fighting equipment are being rushed there, and 300 men are being recruited to fight the fire, raging over 600 acres of timber slash.

The Pender Harbor fire broke loose Wednesday after crews had battled it in a 10-acre area. Pender Harbor community is not in the fire's path, officials said.

A stiff wind was moving the blaze toward valuable timber stands on Mount Hollowell to the north.

A B.C. Forest Service plane is patrolling the threatened area today, looking for spots fire.

Biggest fire on Vancouver Island—at Gold River, on the west coast—was confined Wednesday for the first time since it started Saturday. The blaze covered 300 acres.

FIRE PATROLS

Joe Cliffe, general superintendent of the Comox Logging and Railway Co. Ltd. operations at Ladysmith, said fire patrols will continue on company land during off-duty hours as long as the hazard continues. Men also are on duty at observation points within reach of telephones.

The company has a fleet of 15 fire trucks spotted throughout working areas, and all company engineers are trained in their operation. All crews are working an early shift and will continue to do so while the hazard exists, Mr. Cliffe said.

All logging operations in the district were working early shifts in order to leave the woods before the peak hazard period of each day.

First fatalities of B.C.'s fire-fighting season occurred Wednesday in the north-central part of the province.

Two men were drowned while on their way to fight a fire 60 miles north of Prince George. Forest service officials here said George Douglas and Sam Casakoff were taking a pump to the blaze when their boat was swamped in Tacheeda Lake.

GUY KIBBEE DIES AT 70

EAST ISLIP, N.Y. (UP)—Veteran actor Guy Kibbee, died today at the Percy Williams Home here. He had been ill for more than a year.

Kibbee was 70 years old. He had been trouping since he was 15. He appeared in many Hollywood motion picture productions, primarily making a hit in balding character parts.

Joint Chiefs Of U.S. to Visit Soviet?

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House spokesman said today he "wouldn't be surprised" if the joint chiefs of staff should pay a visit to the Soviet Union if the Russians invited them.

Acting press secretary Murray Snyder said, however, no invitation has yet been received. Snyder commented on a report in the New York Daily News that Russia has sent word "it would welcome a visit by the entire U.S. joint chiefs of staff for an inspection of the Soviet armed forces."

The Daily News story, under the byline of Peter Wallenberg, said the information came from United Nations sources. Presumably the Russians would expect a similar invitation from the United States for their own military leaders.

Later, however, after making some checks with government officials, he said that since the Geneva conference "there have been informal discussions about high officials of our government visiting Russia."

Snyder declined to say which officials are involved in the talks. But when asked if the joint chiefs would accept an invitation to visit the Soviet Union he replied:

"I wouldn't be surprised."

Liquor Profits To Be Limited

WINNIPEG (CP)—Operators for beer parlors, cocktail bars and other liquor outlets in Manitoba will have their liquor profits limited by law, attorney-general M. N. Hryhorczuk said today.

He said the machinery for the regulation of such profits is being drawn up but he did not disclose details. The limitations may be announced by the government when it proclaims the new liquor act, possibly by the end of this month.

Canadian Sailor Dies After Fight

PORTSMOUTH, Eng. (CP)—A Canadian sailor from the aircraft carrier Magnificent died in Portsmouth hospital today from injuries police said were suffered in a fight with a British sailor.

"Eisenhower was the supreme Allied commander," General Mark Clark was the army commander in charge of both operations. And his chief of staff was General Gruenther.

"I wouldn't call any of them squirrel-headed generals. If Mr. Truman is calling them squirrel-headed generals then he should be reminded that all the generals in Italy at that time, with the exception of Alexander, were American generals. It was their campaign."

Gas Pipeline Gets Transport Board OK

Permission to Build Conditional
On $80 Million Government Loan

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners today gave conditional approval to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., to proceed with immediate construction of the 575-mile western section of the proposed 2,200-mile natural gas pipeline.

The order giving such permission will be issued by the board Friday, Mr. Justice John D. Kearney said in delivering a decision following a day-long hearing.

He said permission will be based on the condition that the company obtains an $80,000,000 loan from the government early next month.

He indicated that if the loan is not obtained the permission to proceed with immediate construction will become void.

In the Commons concerted opposition moves on Wednesday temporarily outmaneuvered the government and knocked one day from the cabinet's tightly-scheduled program for passage of the hotly-contested gas pipeline loan legislation.

No progress was made on the bill during yesterday's abbreviated half-day sitting as Progressive Conservative and CCF tacticians threw up three delaying motions.

Two of the motions were ruled out of order by Speaker Rene Beaudoin and the third was voted down.

The procedural tangle produced extended argument on often-obscure points of order together with three roll-call votes—two of them unsuccessful appeals against rulings by Speaker Beaudoin.

End result was that the government did not achieve its aim of moving the controversial pipeline bill into the third stage of its passage—detailed study of its seven clauses with the Commons sitting in committee of the whole. That stage was expected to be reached today.

NEAR DEADLINE

The tactical manoeuvring left the government only 11 days until its June 7 deadline for approval of the measure to lend up to $80,000,000 to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. for construction this year of the Alberta-Winnipeg section of its 2,200-mile line east to Ontario and Quebec.

If the bill is not passed by then, Trans-Canada is freed from its agreement to complete the western leg this year.

The powerful weapon of closure—used on only seven previous occasions in Commons history—has

VEGETABLES IN JAPAN FOUND RADIOACTIVE

TOKYO (Reuters)—The Japanese welfare ministry reported today that fruit and vegetables in central districts of Japan are radioactive, and warned people against eating them.

The warning said the amount of radioactivity found in fruit and vegetables in the areas exposed to recent heavy rainfalls was calculated to be five times greater than the amount considered safe for human consumption.

The Tokyo meteorological observatory is receiving reports of radioactive rain from all parts of Japan, and attributes it to the British nuclear test held off Australia May 16.

Tallest Totem Goes Into Place In Time for Confederation Day

The world's tallest totem pole will take its place as one of the city's top tourist attractions on the Confederation Day weekend of July 1.

Plans are now being completed to have the pole erected by that date at its Beacon Hill Park site approved by city council.

A dedication ceremony—to which all the 8,000-odd shareholders as well as the general public are invited—will be held. The pole will then be formally presented by Mayor Percy Scragg by its sponsors, the Times and the shareholders.

Final details of the ceremony have yet to be worked out, as well as the actual time. Since the completion of the carving by Mungo Martin and his staff a special committee has been working with City Engineer James Garnett on the problems of erection. Yarrows Limited is now engaged in the fabrication of steel required to set the big pole in its concrete base.

It is planned to finally close the totem fund at the end of this month. Until then the public may still purchase the 50-cent shares and become charter shareholders whose names will go on a scroll buried at the foot of the totem.

Shares may be obtained by mail to the Times or at the Broad Street or Douglas Street offices. The fund has now reached the $5,500 mark, most of which has been paid to the carvers, with the balance for the various incidental expenses over and above the services donated by numerous business firms and individuals.

Nanaimo Tops Canada —MacMillan

NANAIMO (CP)—Nanaimo is the centre of the greatest pulp and paper producing area in Canada, H. R. MacMillan, B.C. industrialist told a chamber of commerce audience here Wednesday night.

In announcing the addition of a $1,000,000 wood room expansion to the $45,000,000 Harma sulphate mill south of this city, he suggested that Nanaimo chamber would do well to pull every string, political or otherwise, to get the province to build a 75-mile road from Kelsey Bay on the north end of the Island to Port Alice and Coal Harbor.

"Daily pulp production of mills within the Nanaimo trading orbit totals 2,850 tons daily, 350 days of the year.

"If you get that road built from Port Alice to Coal Harbor this will add another 500 tons daily to the total and boost annual production to 1,200,000 tons from mills extending from Port Alice to Crofton, including the Albernys.

"Many of us have been unaware of the importance of Nanaimo as a centre of pulp and paper production, but it should be noted that within a radius of 50 miles north and south of the city, approximately from Goldstream to Buckley Bay, there are 800,000 acres good for wood production."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

DEAR FATHER GOD, keep us from wounding any soul today or causing one foot to go astray. Help us to think less of ourselves and more of others. May the memory of our own failures humble our pride and soften our hearts; through Jesus Christ. Amen.

SERIES STARTS SATURDAY—The personal story of the Duchess of Windsor, shown here with the man who gave up the throne for her, will be told in a series of articles starting in Saturday's Times.

'MY SIDE OF THE STORY'

Duchess' Memoirs Appear in Times

Few books published in England for many decades have aroused so much controversy there as "My Side of the Story," by the Duchess of Windsor.

It was to be expected. Here was the famous "Woman I love" of Britain's former King about to tell what she experienced during the harrowing pre-abdication days of Edward the Eighth when she was "standing alone and defenceless in the eye of the storm"; of being "in love, and loved as few modern women could ever expect to be loved."

Small wonder that the powerful Church of England newspaper denounced the book and its publication as damaging to the Royal Family and to the memories and reputations of former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and Archbishop Lang.

The tremendous success of "My Side of the Story" both in Britain and on this continent gave strong answer that the public wanted the story told.

The Times has secured serial rights to the Duchess' story and will commence their publication on Saturday.

As to the controversy, the person most vitally concerned, the Duke of Windsor, answered it clearly enough. He said:

"I am glad that the Duchess decided to write her memoirs and that the British people have this opportunity of reading the story of her life."

"My Side of the Story" is not only a frank record of the century's greatest love affair but a detailed and candid biography of one of its princesses.

It tells the story of her childhood in Baltimore, complicated as it was by such tragedies as the early death of her mother and the remarriage of her father and the death of her step-father.

Her own three marriages in America are discussed in detail, in each case a record of impulse followed by disillusionment and in some cases near heartbreak.

The Duchess admits that she rarely looked before she leaped and adds:

"With me, however, it has been a case of just landing."

"Quite apart from other differences, women seem to be divided into two groups—those who reason and those who are forever casting about for reasons for their own lack of reason."

"The record of my life, now that I have for the first time attempted to see it whole, places me with the second group."

"And I see something more, this has been, if not my personal tragedy, my continuing folly."

This story, starting in The Times Saturday, attempts to clear up what the Duchess says has been a great mass of misinformation, uninformed speculation and gossip.

Australia Seeks New Trade Pact

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Prime Minister Robert Menzies said today Australia has told Britain she wants to replace the 1932 Ottawa agreement on trade preferences among Commonwealth nations with a "new comprehensive agreement."

Menzies in a press statement on the eve of his departure for the prime ministers' conference in London, said Australia wants the trade talks during his visit to cover the whole field of Anglo-Australian trade, rather than being confined just to matters relating to the Ottawa agreement.

Australian trade officials have complained that although the Ottawa agreement and preferential policies have made Australia the greatest single market for British goods, Australia's advantages are being whittled down by Britain's agricultural subsidies and imports of subsidized products from Argentina and other countries.

Menzies' statement said the object of the talks would be to reach an agreement with Britain on a set of principles to provide a framework for a new trade agreement.

TICKS OFF EX-PRESIDENT TRUMAN

'If They're Squirrel-Headed They're Yours' Says Monty

HAMILTON (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, deputy supreme commander Allied Forces in Europe, said today former U.S. president Harry Truman didn't know what he was talking about when he called Second World War operations at Salerno and Anzio the product of "some squirrel-headed general."

Lord Montgomery, visiting a member of his wartime staff here, said Mr. Truman is "fouling his own nest" when he criticizes wartime operations in Italy.

The former president, now touring Europe, was quoted as making the comment on the Allied landings during a recent visit to Italian battlefields. He later denied the statement, but newspapermen accompanying him reiterated that he made it.

Lord Montgomery said Mr. Truman "made the mistake of criticizing two isolated tactical operations, without examining the whole strategic master plan. If he had examined the strategic picture he would have had much more, and much firmer grounds, for criticism."

"But let's get down to this business of 'squirrel-headed generals.'"

"Eisenhower was the supreme Allied commander," General Mark Clark was the army commander in charge of both operations. And his chief of staff was General Gruenther.

been applied by the government twice so far to limit debate on the first two stages of the bitter commons fight. It is expected to be used twice more, in the committee stage and on final reading, with the government reported aiming at clearing the bill through the Commons and sending it to the Senate by May 31.

Wednesday CCF leader Coldwell was greeted with shouts from Liberals as he spoke on a point of order. He said he should be given a chance to state his views "since they (the Liberals) have closure on their side and are muzzling Parliament so effectively."

"I am wondering whether we are in the Reichstag or in the Canadian Parliament."

Wednesday's procedural roadblocks by the opposition were in the form of motions instructing the committee to make certain changes in the bill.

Davie Fulton (PC — Kamloops) proposed that the committee be instructed not to approve the loan to Trans-Canada unless the company has a majority of Canadian shareholders.

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) presented a motion calling for inclusion in the bill of the May 8 government agreement with Trans-Canada on the Prairie section loan.

Speaker Beaudin ruled both out of order, basing his decision on previous rulings by Canadian and United Kingdom Speakers that both proposals were relevant to the bill and within the committee's power to deal with. Only his second ruling was appealed.

MOTION IN ORDER

Opposition Leader Drew then presented a third motion to have the committee divide the bill into two parts, separating the Prairie loan provision from another part for federal Ontario financing of a crown corporation to build the pipeline's $118,000,000 northern Ontario section.

Mr. Drew's motion was accepted as being in order. But an hour-long wrangle ensued on whether it was debatable.

If it was considered debatable, then it would add another stage to the pipeline debate on which the government would have to move closure.

Speaker Beaudin finally ruled it could not be debated and his decision again was challenged.

Finally Mr. Drew's motion was defeated on another roll-call vote.

But by that time the 6 p.m. adjournment time had been reached and the government was unable to present its motion to refer the bill to committee.

Votes of 153 to 66 and 152 to 67 upheld the Speaker's rulings. Mr. Drew's motion was defeated 150 to 67.

SUCKED AGAINST SHIP'S KEEL

Did Soviet Magnets Drown RN Frogman?

BASLE, Switzerland (UP)—A Swiss newspaper said Wednesday Soviet seamen killed British frogman Lionel Crabb by holding him underwater with magnets until his air supply ran out.

Basler Nachrichten, in a dispatch from its Stockholm correspondent, gave "competent circles in the Nordic capital" as its sources for the story.

The dispatch said the Soviets discovered Lieut. Cmdr. Crabb under their cruiser Ordzhonikidze in England's Portsmouth harbor last April 19.

After jamming his radio contact with shore and preventing underwater photography, with "jamming," the ship's detective devices showed Crabb still had not turned back, the dispatch said.

When the Russians realized Crabb still was exploring the bottom of their ship they switched on "magnetic installations" that sucked him against the keel and held him until he died from lack of air, the dispatch said.

The story did not explain what the "magnetic installations" were.

It said the British had sent Crabb on the mission to examine the hull and propeller of the Ordzhonikidze.

There was no immediate comment on the report in London.

The British government has said only that Crabb "presumably" died while diving around the Ordzhonikidze and two other Soviet ships at Portsmouth but refused to say what he was doing there.

Sir Anthony Eden's government disclaimed advance knowledge of Crabb's activities but apologized to Russia for them.

Nothing has been made public in London as to what became of Crabb's body, but the Swiss newspaper said British officials recovered it.

Man Found Guilty Of Robbing Victoria Woman

William Boucher, 47, 735 Pandora, was remanded to next Thursday for sentence when convicted in city police court today on a charge of robbery with violence.

Boucher is charged with robbing Doris Campbell of $29 cash and a bottle containing sleeping pills on April 22.

He has been in custody since charged.

According to evidence given at the much-adjourned trial, Boucher took Mrs. Campbell to his photo studio early the morning of April 22.

BRUISED

Called to the Douglas Hotel at about 6:20 a.m., police said the woman was dishevelled, had a large bruise on her jaw and blood on her lips.

In giving judgment Magistrate Henry C. Hall noted that money, corresponding to the amount the woman said she had, was found on Boucher.

Another amount of money was found in another pocket, he noted.

The magistrate said a bottle containing some sleeping pills and a pair of gloves, identified as those she was wearing, also were found.

Mrs. Campbell said earlier in the trial that she dropped the gloves in a garage "where that chap was beating me up."

Hubby Superseded By Wife's Pets

DENVER (AP)—It wasn't only that Frederick J. Betts had to share his home with 11 chinchillas, a parrot, a cat, a dog and three large bowls of tropical fish. It was also, he told a divorce-court jury Wednesday, that his wife, Anonia, reminded him repeatedly that she preferred the animals, bird and fish to him. The jury granted Betts a divorce.

Stalin's Downgrading Ends History Exams

LONDON (AP)—Leningrad radio reported Tuesday night that many schools in the Soviet Union have been ordered not to have history examinations this year. The radio gave no reason, but the pupils presumably have not had time to bone up on the rewritten version of Russian history produced since the downgrading of Stalin.

An application for bail for Frank Miller, 60, Jordan River, who is charged with discharging a firearm with intent to cause bodily harm, was refused by Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker in Supreme Court Wednesday.

The Kelpy Horns

THEY were squatting on the float by the Public Wharf—two thin, dark-haired boys of 10. Each was wearing jeans and T-shirt. Each was officially called "Robert," and "Bob" for short. Each loved "just messing about in boats," to use a Wind-in-the-Willows phrase.

But Robert D. came from the roughest kind of home. He knew squallor, drunkenness, erratic meals, four children in a bed, and the stench of piled-up, unwashed baby clothes. At 10 years old there was very little of the disgusting side of life that Robert D. hadn't seen.

Robert H. was a millionaire's son. His home was a beautiful Californian ranch house with an unbelievable view over the ocean.

It seemed to him quite natural to fly to Hawaii to watch the finish of a sailing race. He knew many of this continent's major airports. He'd flown to Europe twice. He'd been to Paris and to London. He was quite at home in the best hotels. He was equally at home on a fishing or a camping trip.

It was a cruising trip among the islands that had brought him to B.C. And it was a visit to the Public Wharf for gas and water that brought him face to face with the other Robert.

The "rough" little Robert was busy with a pile of kelp heads that he'd collected in the battered dugout canoe he'd found abandoned and washed up on the beach.

He was cutting the heads to make a kind of horn.

The rich little Robert watched him cut away the head at about "eyebrow" level and leave a "nick" of about 6-8 inches long.

He saw the local boy blow upon the horn and listen to the sound it made.

He noticed how the sound varied with the length of the neck and the size of the head.

And when the cabin cruiser pulled away from the wharf, he could talk of nothing else.

For the rest of the trip, he was impatient with fishing and bored with long runs from anchorage to anchorage. All he wanted was to take the smart white dinghy and hunt for heads of kelp.

He dragged the lengths of kelp on to the sleek, smart cabin cruiser.

He tried to keep his evil-smelling kelp heads on his bunk.

He drove his parents almost crazy with his perpetual blowing on the horns.

He remembered them for a whole year. They were the highlight of his trip.

All winter long, he fussed and fussed for his parents to spend their next summer vacation cruising in B.C.

It would be fun to say that, when they came, he lost all interest in kelp and horns. He didn't. The first thing he did was to find himself a dripping length of kelp. He taught his sister the trick as well.

The second summer was just twice as "kelpy" as the first!

And I don't know that this story has any point at all. Except that it's amusing and true to childhood.

It's also a wonderful example of the universality of "little" things, and the common bond they can make between people of very different backgrounds.

And I'll bet you anything that the Publicity Boys have never thought of listing kelp horns as one of the attractions of B.C.

LONDON LETTER

Cigaret Centennial

LONDON—This month cigarettes celebrate their 100th birthday in Britain. When a young Scot named Robert Clog went off to the Crimean War no one in Britain had the cigarette habit—because they didn't exist.

But when he got back in 1856 he brought with him the cigarette idea and set up The Original Turkey Tobacco and Cigaret Manufacturing to make them. His first brand was called Sweet Threes and the price was certainly right—a packet of three for about half a cent.

They caught on so quickly that other people hastened to get into the cigarette business, but by 1884 Clog was the acknowledged top man in the trade with his newly introduced Tom Thumbs, five for a cent, named after the famous dwarf and of which I've heard many an old-timer speak.

Clog kept on being a pioneer. It was he who introduced cigarette cards. But there are no Clog brands on the market these days. When his son inherited the business he couldn't arouse much enthusiasm for cigarettes and the firm soon packed up.

In the 100 years of cigarettes, consumption in London has jumped from zero to 50,000,000 a day and English people now living in Canada will be interested to know that Players, for so many years recognized as Britain's most popular cigaret, have been toppled from their perch.

Players are still an "under-the-counter" cigarette, i.e. demand is greater than supply and at most outlets they are not displayed on the shelves with other brands but reserved for regular customers. But also under the counter are Senior Service and that has now become the most-wanted brand, with Players becoming No. 2.

Personally, I smoke a cork-tipped brand famous for being made specially to 'prevent sore throats but notorious in the trade for being a bad seller. I think they're terrific. It's not so much that they're a good smoke. Their main attribute is that when you hand around your packet, no one will accept one.

Cigaret pioneer Clog has a neglected grave in a cemetery in suburban Kensal Green; and there is no memorial there or anywhere else to the inventor of the English cigarette. Like most people, I don't think I'd be forthcoming if they asked me to contribute toward a memorial for him. After all, he's already costing me $300 a year which probably wouldn't be going up in smoke if it had not been for him.

HERE'S ONE for those lovers of jargon in Ottawa to add to their list for future use.

Hugh Molson, Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of Transport: "Any consideration we may be giving has not reached a point where it will be desirable to give any indication to the public of what is going on in our minds." Translation: "No comment."

HOME GARDEN By HILDA BEASTALL

Care in Planting Prevents Wilting

The now near-famous birch tree group is safely planted in the far corner of our garden.

They seem quite content with their location, and in the company of some coral-berry shrubs (Symphoricarpos racemosa) which will form light underbrush for the birds while the trees grow.

We dug holes at least twice the diameter apparently needed to accommodate the roots of each tree.

The top soil was placed in one heap, and the subsoil in another. Soil in the bottom of the hole was well pulverized and some blue whale mixed thoroughly with it.

STOUT STAKE

After placing each tree in position and spreading its roots out in all directions, a stout stake (made from three laths nailed together flatly) was driven in on the windward side. The stakes will remain for a year or so until the trees are firmly anchored by their own roots.

Next came the filling in; first with the top soil, followed by long slow trickle watering from the hose, until the depression was filled with water. This assured us that the whole area was well moistened and the soil particles washed into close contact with the finer roots.

The sub soil was finally replaced on the surface, still leaving a slight depression for summer watering. With this care, there has been no wilting of the leaves, in spite of the higher temperatures. And the breeze is already rustling pleasantly in the twiggy branches.

Luxury Liner Stuck 12 Hours on Sandbank

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — The British luxury liner Orosova and her 450 passengers spent 12 hours stranded on a sandbank near this Australian port today before tugs pulled the ship off.

The 28,790-ton liner ran aground 12 miles south of here Wednesday night, three hours after leaving Melbourne on the last stage of her voyage from London to Sydney.

The $17,000,000 ship, launched in 1953, went aground at the same place where her sister ship, the Oracles, was stranded for 20 hours in 1952. The Orosova continued her voyage after three tugs freed her on high tide.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cecil B. De Mille of the movies is a grandfather at 74. A son was born Wednesday to Mrs. Peter Calvin, whose husband is the son of De Mille's daughter, Mrs. Joseph W. Harper. Their baby is James Glenn Calvin.

STOCK MARKET SUMMARIES

Vickers Drops $5 On Sagging Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A sagging stock market chalked up further losses in mid-afternoon dealings today.

Industrials were down 4.40 on the group's index while golds slipped a fraction to their low point of the year. Refining oils were off sharply. Most resistance came from papers and utilities.

Canadian Vickers was top loser, dropping $5 at $39.25 after announcement that Vickers of England has acquired control. Aluminum, at $123.75, and International Paper, at $125.25, each dropped $3.25.

B.C. Power, Interprovincial Utilities, International Utilities and Canadian Pacific were among utilities posting small fractional gains.

International Nickel fell $1.75 to lead base metals down. Great Plains lost a point. Central Explorers 55 cents and Canadian Atlantic 50 cents among western oils.

VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER—A quiet market, prices slightly lower. Trojan took the spotlight with a turnover of 55,600 shares; low of 70, high 86; last sale at noon, 74.

Sunshine Lardeau sold 5,000 at 28. Vananda moved 7,000 at 11 1/2. Cowichan Copper traded 6,000 at $1.76. Highland Hill sold 3,000 at 80. Jackson Mining moved 4,500 at 54. Van-Tor traded 5,200 between $1.22 and $1.25.

LONDON

LONDON (Reuters)—The stock market made a better showing today although business was on a reduced scale and was somewhat selective.

In the industrial market certain leaders attracted cheap buyers and prices hardened. Electrical equipments were dull while Babcock and Wilcox were firm in engineering. Leading tobacco were higher. Kaffirs were dull. Coppers reflected Wednesday's setback on Wall Street and a further fall in metal prices. Oils rallied and were slightly higher.

Closing prices: Babcock and Wilcox 76s 3d. Bowater Paper Corp. 54s 6d. Canadian Pacific 57 1/2. Central Mining 35s 9d. Courtaulds 38s 4 1/2d. General Electric Ltd. 54s. Hudson's Bay Co. 17s 3d. Imperial Tobacco 46s 9d. Metal Box 51s 9d. Mexican Eagle 20s 7 1/2d.

Bonds: British 2 1/2s consols £52 7-16. British 3 1/2s war loans £71 15-16. British fundings 4s 1960-90 £89 1/2.

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was dull and prices irregular today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Flax was the weak spot.

Best commercial demand was in oats and barley. Small domestic shipper buying appeared in oats and to some extent in barley. Oats was steady; barley easier, reflecting reductions in the Canadian wheat board's asking price for lower grades.

Flax was irregular, with selling coming for international accounts. Rye sold off.

Overnight export wheat loadings totalled 2,825,000 bushels, including United Kingdom 675,000, Soviet Russia 630,000, Switzerland 390,000, Peru 345,000, Czechoslovakia 300,000, Ecuador 205,000, Italy 185,000, Germany 73,000 and Guatemala 20,000.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged from Wednesday.

Father of 4 Dies In Ship Accident

(From The Canadian Press)

VANCOUVER — The death of a longshoreman, crushed Wednesday in the hold of a ship at North Vancouver, sent up British Columbia's accident death toll to eight in two days.

Donald M. Cunningham, 40-year-old father of four, was working aboard the freighter Clifford J. Rogers when four bales of empty ore bags, weighing more than 500 pounds each, fell onto him.

Tuesday, three children died in a fire at Hazelton, three men died in a plane crash near Kamano and a smelting plant worker died of asphyxiation in Kitimat.

The children were Kelly Dames, 11, his sisters, Judy, 9, and Peggy, 7, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Dames. They were found huddled on one bed. Kelly lay shielding his sisters from the flames, with his arms around them.

The bodies of the three men killed when their plane crashed near Kamano Tuesday were recovered by an RCMP launch from Kitimat Wednesday.

They were: Capt. Victor Deeks, 34, of Terrace, the pilot; Angus Lancaster Chalmers, 44, of Kamano and Harold Casey, 34, of Kamano, both passengers. Russell Baker, president of Pacific Western Airlines, said Wednesday that the four-seater Widgeon amphibian of PWA must have struck a rock or some other object while landing to check something thought to be connected with the missing fisherman for which the plane was searching.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

You can relax and stop speculating about whether or not there will be a B.C. election this year. The fearless prediction is, there will. Mind you, this is not my own personal fearless prediction. The last time I made a personal fearless prediction, I said Shrove Tuesday would be the day after Pancake Monday and the prediction fell flat.

However, THIS fearless prediction is one based on considerable research by Our Very Own Candidates, Messrs. Elmer Fadd, Elmer Fidd, Elmer Fodd, Elmer Fodd and Elmer Fydd. Messrs. Fadd to Fydd, inclusive, have explored the very grass roots of democracy, and have discovered—right from the horse's mouth, while the horse was eating grass from the grass roots—that there will, indeed, be an election this year.

Their reasoning is based on this simple premise: it has been stated there will be an election when it is in the best interest of the people to be told there will be an election. As the spokesman for Our Very Own Candidates, Elmer (Laughing Boy) Fadd puts it: "We ain't never said there wasn't going to be no election this year at no time, didn't we?"

Nothing could be more crystal-clear, with the possible exception of a crystal.

At this stage, Our Very Own Candidates are convinced the up-coming election is certainly coming up, and they are losing no time in putting their political machine in high gear (first having the oil and gas checked, naturally.)

Mr. Fodd, for instance, is practicing looking out the window and saying the sun never has shone any brighter and nobody can say I never said it would.

Mr. Fidd has been appointed convener of a committee to find more roads which need building.

Mr. Fodd has been appointed vice-president in charge of reasons why the roads (see above) haven't been built yet but will be, and he never said they wouldn't.

Mr. Fudd is concentrating on financial matters, such as keeping expenditures up and taxes down and a chicken in every pot. (Mr. Fudd never did put much faith in the Chicken Vote.)

Mr. Fydd is so far inactive. He feels, if he does little enough slow enough and late enough, he can be a defeated candidate and thus achieve lifetime security.

So never fear, Our Very Own Candidates will be ready.

And yes, Virginia, there WILL be an election.

PAIR FOR PRAYER

Twin Evangelists Spark Double Takes

BY TONY DICKASON

Ralph and Louis Sutura are two missionaries now here who could feasibly drive primitive tribes to distraction.

Pop one in a pot, and the other could scare the loin cloths off the assembly by playing his violin at the clearing's edge.

This morning was even more mixed-up than usual, thanks to the Suterases... identical twins.

They are a pair of classically handsome 24-year-olds from Union, New Jersey, here preaching a benevolent type of Christianity at Alliance Tabernacle nightly for 10 days at 7.45 p.m.

They describe themselves, almost in unison, as interdenominational evangelists. Both are ordained ministers of the Fundamentalist Ministerial Association.

Both preach; both sing; Louis plays the accordion and piano and Ralph does dramatic readings; both are interchangeable on the violin; both graduated from Bob Jones University of South Carolina in 1953.

In other words, they pretty well both talk the same language.

Soldier Wanted for Testimony In Rape Trial Last March Found

A soldier who failed to appear as a Crown witness in a rape trial has been arrested and is now being held in custody in the city jail.

He is Maxwell Cyril Bigger of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, who was summoned to appear as a "material witness" for the trial of Private Gerard Joseph Green, who was acquitted in Assize Court in March of raping a 17-year-old high school girl.

Bigger will appear before a Supreme Court Justice Friday. Crown counsel Lloyd McKenzie, said Bigger was arrested on a warrant issued when he failed to appear as a Crown witness for the trial.

He said the soldier disappeared from the Gordon Head camp a week or so before the trial started at the courthouse. At the conclusion of the trial, Mr. McKenzie informed the court that a wife search was being made for the witness, and if arrested contempt proceedings would be taken against him.

FAIRGROUND PARTY PLAN

Saanich will seek use of the Saanichton fair grounds for its 50th anniversary celebrations to be held on July 2, Coun. T. J. O'Neill said today.

The tentative program for the celebrations include a band concert, sports and free refreshments for children, he said.

City Gets Free Hand In Pandora Site Sale

A provincial order-in-council today gave Victoria city a free hand to seek a buyer for valuable property on Pandora Avenue which is expected to revert from Woodward Stores Ltd.

The city was advised by the store Wednesday it could have an additional 30-day option on the land without strings.

The provincial authority relieves the city of obligation to buy the land back from the company for corporate purposes only.

Woodward Stores extended the official deadline on agreement the city would also buy an additional small property adjoining for a price of $85,000.

This means the city must now pay $150,000 (the original price to the store) plus the cost of the additional land, $85,000, plus $35,000 carrying charges agreed to earlier, or a total of about $270,000.

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND THEY GO

About 15,000 cars pass through the Hillside-Douglas Roundabout in the two peak periods as Victorians go to and from work.

A total of 1,750 cars entered the Roundabout from North Douglas Street in an hour-and-a-half this morning.

These are preliminary findings a troop of city works officials reported after making eye-checks today.

Twenty men in groups of two at each entrance and exit at the Fountain Circle recorded licence plate numbers noting where the cars entered and where they left.

Health Workers Told to Vacate

Doctor Ignores Council In Move to New Quarters

Saanich medical health officer Dr. A. N. Beattie has ordered the staff of the Saanich and South Vancouver Island Health Unit to vacate its Burnside Road offices and to move to new quarters on Gorge Road.

The health officer, apparently fed up with former municipal council's refusal to provide more space for his health unit, took the action without notifying, or seeking approval, of council.

"We are bursting at the seams," Dr. Beattie said. "We are over-crowded. Conditions have become unbearable."

COUNCIL ACTION

The medical officer's action is expected to spur council to make one of two decisions:

1. Unify the Saanich health service with that of Victoria and Esquimalt.
2. Build additional offices for the health staff.

The doctor's move order came as a complete surprise to members of Saanich council.

Coun. Ainslee Worthington, chairman of the health and welfare committee, said Dr. Beattie should have first consulted council.

"He is certainly going to get an earful from me," he said. "Dr. Beattie may have been given the run-around by previous councils, but he certainly should have approached the new council."

The previous council was favorable to providing additional space for Dr. Beattie last year, but former reeve Joseph Casey at the last moment opposed the plan.

AGREES WITH BEATTIE

Mr. Worthington said he fully agreed with Dr. Beattie that the health unit was in need of additional space.

"Conditions are terrible, I know," he said. "They are even using the washroom as a filing room."

He was certain if Dr. Beattie had approached council, it would have attempted to provide him with additional offices.

Coun. Worthington said he favored the unification of the health service with those of Victoria and Esquimalt as it would result in a more efficient service.

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF B.C. Agricultural Association at its annual meeting here Wednesday was K. R. "Doc" Darbyshire, well-known horse-racer in this district. First vice-president is Arthur H. Cox; second vice-president, H. R. Milburn, and secretary-treasurer, Alex G. Hill.

Vancouver Asks Amalgamation

Vancouver City Council will ask the provincial government for a Royal Commission to study the advisability of establishing a metropolitan form of government on the lower mainland, it was learned here today.

Such a government would coordinate fire and police protection, plus sewage and other services.

Home Offers Aplenty For Rejected Family

Calls by the dozens have been coming into the Times and radio station CKDA since publication of the story Wednesday of a mother of four children who charged a city real estate firm with refusal to rent because her husband was in the army.

The home rental offers have been passed along to Mrs. Vera Dunham, newcomer here from the army camp at Chilliwack.

She complained she was refused permission to rent an Oak Bay home because her husband was in the army. He is a corporal at Work Point.

Vice-president of the Victoria Real Estate Board today denied any discrimination against soldiers' families in renting of homes.

Russell Ker said Mrs. Dunham was obviously "peevish" with the way her request was handled. It was just undiplomatic, that's all there is too it. Some of our best clients are soldiers.

The rental agent involved with the firm contacted by Mrs. Dunham today came out with a flat "I have nothing to say."

Mr. Ker said "no real estate agent is against anyone in the services," but there are many people who do not want to rent to people with children.

"Mr. Ker just doesn't know what goes on," said Mrs. Dunham. "That's the way service people are treated. That's the way we were treated, a refusal to rent a home to us."

Col. J. C. Cave, commandant at Work Point Barracks, said there was accommodation for 137 married couples at the barracks, but there was always a long waiting list for these. Accommodation was awarded on a point basis, so much for years in the army, overseas service, etc.

He said he had not heard of any complaints against Victoria realtors in respect to renting homes to soldiers with families.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—I lost track of my pen pal in London, England. I wish to locate her. Shall I write to the Mayor of London? How should I address it? Also, how will he let me know? L.D.

A.—As to where to write to re-establish the relationship, it should be pointed out that the Lord Mayor of London probably is so busy on multifarious duties that he would simply have the letter turned over to some newspaper or magazine which gives service in that field. It is suggested you write to the editor of the London Daily Mirror, who doubtless will explore to determine if that paper's services can aid you. Of course you will be quite clear about your address.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Keep Color on Your Lips Even While in Swimming

By PENNY SAVER

To the wide and wonderful selection of "stay-on" lipsticks, we welcome a newcomer. Waterproof lipstick, a girl's best companion at the beach or for sports, is here just in time to usher in summertime activities. This new product doesn't dry the lips, and contains silicone, a non-drying ingredient which forms a film that aids in resisting water. It contains, also, nutritive, a basic, also non-drying component that is beneficial to the lips, keeping them healthy, soft and luminous. The lipstick has a thin texture, which means that it glides on for a smooth and light coating to the lips.

Because of its unique texture, it holds a precise outline, which is most welcome to the woman who is constantly irritated by lipsticks which creep up into the area surrounding the mouth and ruin the contour of the lips. Another feature of this lipstick is that it will remain "true" to you. This means that as well as staying on, it stays its true color, which may be true red, the reddest shade imaginable; true coral, beautiful with a suntan; true pink, delicate and tempting and true blue, vibrant and torchy. The lipstick is $1.50.

The cosmetic companions for the lipstick are waterproof mascara, which many women have found so effective and flattering, and eye cream special, a cream, to which vitamin A and a gentle astringent have been added. It's perfect for the removal of waterproof mascara, and at the same time it smooths out the fine squint lines that are so apt to form, especially in the summer. The cream is $2.50 and the mascara $1.50.

Now we've taken care of the lips and eyes, let us pay some attention to our hands, or more correctly to the coverings for our hands. Delightful Italian-made stretchy gloves in brown, red, or navy and white hair-line stripes have appeared just in time to go with summer frocks and suits.

The gloves are short-sleeved that reach just to the wrist, so that you can comfortably wear that tapered sleeve jacket, or wear gay bangles or bracelets without the glove interfering.

For extra special occasions, the lace, white elasticized gloves that look just like soft, open-work hand-made lace, will match your lace shoes, or go with any number of sunlit outfits. Oh so short, and practical as they can be, they cost $1.50 a pair. Don't go searching through town looking for these items, call me at 2-3131 and I'll gladly tell you where to find them.

VON to Have National Headquarters

OTTAWA (CP).—For the first time in its history the Victorian Order of Nurses will have a place to fly a flag and call its headquarters.

The acquisition of a building to house national offices came unexpectedly earlier this year.

The gracious, three-story house on a tree-lined residential street here was a bequest—and a tribute—from a prominent businessman cared for by the home nursing order.

Renovation and conversion of the home to offices will probably be completed by next spring.

Surrounded by a small garden, the property is located near Laurier House, former residence of prime ministers Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mackenzie King.

The unconditional bequest of the property—with an estimated value of $50,000—was made by the late Russell Blackburn.

Delegate Named—Mrs. May Cox was named delegate to the supreme lodge convention at Sherbrooke, Que., in July, at a meeting of the Order of the Royal Purple. It was announced that proceeds of $37 from a tea will be used to provide hampers for needy pensioners.

Mrs. C. W. McCarthy gave the vote of thanks. Critics were Mrs. L. Rush, Mrs. J. R. Pipes and Mrs. J. S. Pettersson; Mrs. W. G. Beale acted as timer and Mrs. J. G. Patterson was lexicologist. Miss Scovill as evaluator presented the Spur to Miss Ponsford and the Oscar to Mrs. Lawrie.

Buyers Crowd New York for Fall Showings

NEW YORK (AP).—A dress manufacturer opening a new line suffers the same jitters as a theatrical producer before a first night on Broadway—and many of his techniques are the same. There is more and more Broadway atmosphere in New York's booming garment centre, where this week thousands of buyers are crowding the wholesale showrooms, selecting the clothes that mother and her daughters will wear next fall.

Some of the openings feature theme music and theatrical props. Some achieve the correctly festive atmosphere via champagne and lavish displays of flowers. Some manufacturers serve coffee to be sure the buyers stay awake. Others have door prizes and give away theatre tickets to the holders of lucky numbers.

And through all the salons runs an exciting thread of tension, as designer and boss await the verdict of buyers and press, to see if they have produced a hit or a flop.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Dated Hair Styles Make You Look Old

It is always fun to talk with a woman. It should be becoming Michel (Helena Rubinstein), one to her but it can also be enough of today's truly distinguished hair in trend to be up to date." He continued, "A woman looks artist in his work but he is witty and understanding of feminine psychology."

I visited with him in New York not long ago. This year he is introducing what he calls his "Parasol Look." It is as popular as his Poodle Cut was a few years ago we had better learn about it.

This is a softly turned-inward coiffure, demi-length. The length he calls demi-length is just below the ear lobes. No curls are visible. He uses what he calls the "under-curl" which is just as it sounds. The hair underneath is curled to give body but the top hair is straight. This new cutting and waving allows each creation to have smooth, long curves to fit the individual face.

Michel takes the current styles in hats and clothes into consideration when designing new hairdos. His smooth, sleek coiffures go beautifully with this season's billowing hats and Empire dresses.

I asked Michel how far along he thinks a woman should go with current styles, whether she should sacrifice becomingness to style. He answered "A current fashion can always be adapted to the individual."

2. The hair should always be lifted at the temples if a woman is middle-aged or more. You should have this life even if the hair is reversed and turns back toward the face.

3. Change your hair fashion, at least to some extent, so that you will not look dated, and therefore older.

Youthful Slayers of Priest to Live

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences passed on three Quebec youths convicted of the pistol murder of a Roman Catholic priest near Brandon, Man., early last year.

The youths—Guy Ferrange, 19, of Rivière des Prairies, Que.; Claude Paquin, 18, and Gerard Yvon de Tonnancourt, both of Montreal—will serve their life sentences in Manitoba penitentiary.

$150,000 for Grey Cup TV, Radio

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Rugby Union has sold television, radio and film program rights for the 1956 Grey Cup football final for more than $150,000, it was learned today.

Estimate of the figure was obtained following announcements in Montreal and Toronto of the names of the companies which purchased the program rights.

Firefighters Airlifted to Blaze

VANCOUVER (CP)—Float planes today began airlifting men and equipment to a raging fire which has destroyed 1,000 acres of forest 50 miles northwest of here.

The emergency airlift was ordered by the forest service after the wind-driven flames ran wild through timber stands on the Sechart peninsula. The fire is officially described as the worst in the province this year.

Rising Kootenai Menaces Idaho Town

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP)—The unpredictable Kootenai River continues to threaten this town of 2,000 today as the river again rose past the 36-foot mark, more than five feet above official flood stage, and rain slowed repair work on dirt dikes.

The pressure had been relieved for several hours late Wednesday night and early Thursday when the river broke through more farm dikes and flooded an additional 2,278 acres of rich land. More than 8,000 acres are now covered.

Red Border Guards Fire on U.S. Men

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UP)—The U.S. Army announced today that one of its border patrols was fired on Wednesday, apparently by Communist Czech frontier guards.

The announcement said the attack took place near Rehau, 15 miles southeast of Hof, on the German-Czech border. No one was hit by the fire from the Czech side of the border, the army announcement said.

Gagliardi Undecided
On Route He Claims

VANCOUVER (CP)—He returns to Vancouver Sunday. The minister is in South America with the inaugural Canadian Pacific Airlines flight from here to Buenos Aires.

He was asked if there was still a possibility of the alternative route through the Jumbo Pass.

"I wouldn't say that—I said before I would be making a statement on my return."

Selection of the route through the Rocky Mountains has been a subject of controversy for years. The Rogers Pass route is between Revelstoke and Golden, and the Jumbo Pass is between Windermere and Duncan Lake.

Correspondence tabled in the House for H.W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West) discloses that the B.C. government decided March 1 to build the highway through the Rogers Pass and asked that Works Minister Winters keep the decision confidential.

The Nelson Daily News reported Mr. Gagliardi as saying March 11 no final choice had been made.

PIPELINE

been applied by the government twice so far to limit debate on the first two stages of the bitter commons fight. It is expected to be used twice more, in the committee stage and on final reading, with the government reported aiming at clearing the bill through the Commons and sending it to the Senate by May 31.

Wednesday CCF leader Coldwell was greeted with shouts from Liberals as he spoke on a point of order. He said he should be given a chance to state his views "since they (the Liberals) have closure on their side and are muzzling Parliament so effectively."

"I am wondering whether we are in the Reichstag or in the Canadian Parliament."

Wednesday's procedural road-blocks by the opposition were in the form of motions instructing the committee to make certain changes in the bill.

Davie Fulton (PC — Kamloops) proposed that the committee be instructed not to approve the loan to Trans-Canada unless the company has a majority of Canadian shareholders.

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) presented a motion calling for inclusion in the bill of the May 8 government agreement with Trans-Canada on the Prairie section loan.

Speaker Beaudin ruled both out of order, basing his decision on previous rulings by Canadian and United Kingdom Speakers that both proposals were relevant to the bill and within the committee's power to deal with. Only his second ruling was appealed.

MOTION IN ORDER

Opposition Leader Drew then presented a third motion to have the committee divide the bill into two parts, separating the Prairie loan provision from another part for federal Ontario financing of a crown corporation to build the pipeline's $118,000,000 northern Ontario section.

Mr. Drew's motion was accepted as being in order. But an hour-long wrangle ensued on whether it was debatable.

If it was considered debatable, then it would add another stage to the pipeline debate on which the government would have to move closure.

Speaker Beaudin finally ruled it could not be debated and his decision again was challenged.

Finally Mr. Drew's motion was defeated on another roll-call vote. But by that time the 6 p.m. adjournment time had been reached and the government was unable to present its motion to refer the bill to committee.

Votes of 153 to 66 and 152 to 67 upheld the Speaker's rulings. Mr. Drew's motion was defeated 150 to 67.

SUCKED AGAINST SHIP'S KEEL

Did Soviet Magnets Drown RN Frogman?

BASLE, Switzerland (UP)—A Swiss newspaper said Wednesday Soviet seamen killed British frogman Lionel Crabb by holding him underwater with magnets until his air supply ran out.

Basler Nachrichten, in a dispatch from its Stockholm correspondent, gave "competent circles in the Nordic capital" as its sources for the story.

The dispatch said the Soviets discovered Lieut. Cmdr. Crabb under their cruiser Ordzhonikidze in England's Portsmouth harbor last April 19.

After jamming his radio contact with shore and preventing underwater photography with "jamming," the ship's detective devices showed Crabb still had not turned back, the dispatch said.

When the Russians realized Crabb still was exploring the bottom of their ship they switched on "magnetic installations" that sucked him against the keel and held him until he died from lack of air, the dispatch said.

The story did not explain what the "magnetic installations" were.

It said the British had sent Crabb on the mission to examine the hull and propeller of the Ordzhonikidze.

There was no immediate comment on the report in London.

The British government has said only that Crabb "presumably" died while diving around the Ordzhonikidze and two other Soviet ships at Portsmouth but refused to say what he was doing there.

Sir Anthony Eden's government disclaimed advance knowledge of Crabb's activities but apologized to Russia for them.

Nothing has been made public in London as to what became of Crabb's body, but the Swiss newspaper said British officials recovered it.

The story did not explain what the "magnetic installations" were.

It said the British had sent Crabb on the mission to examine the hull and propeller of the Ordzhonikidze.

There was no immediate comment on the report in London.

The British government has said only that Crabb "presumably" died while diving around the Ordzhonikidze and two other Soviet ships at Portsmouth but refused to say what he was doing there.

Sir Anthony Eden's government disclaimed advance knowledge of Crabb's activities but apologized to Russia for them.

Nothing has been made public in London as to what became of Crabb's body, but the Swiss newspaper said British officials recovered it.

Hubby Superseded By Wife's Pets

DENVER (AP)—It wasn't only that Frederick J. Betts had to share his home with 11 chinchillas, a parrot, a cat, a dog and three large bowls of tropical fish. It was also, he told a divorce-court jury Wednesday, that his wife, Anonia, reminded him repeatedly that she preferred the animals, bird and fish to him. The jury granted Betts a divorce.

Stalin's Downgrading Ends History Exams

LONDON (AP)—Leningrad radio reported Tuesday night that many schools in the Soviet Union have been ordered not to have history examinations this year. The radio gave no reason, but the pupils presumably have not had time to bone up on the rewritten version of Russian history produced since the downgrading of Stalin.
